

Bankers Fear Central Bank Because it Means Currency Inflation

WASHINGTON—As members of the American Bankers association gather to hear the President here tonight the chief questions uppermost in their minds are:

1. Is there to be inflation this Winter?

2. Is there to be a Central Bank?

The two are interdependent. If there is a Central Bank there is sure to be inflation. Probably without a Central Bank there will be no inflation.

And whether or not the President attempts to reply to their questions, the real fact is that the bankers themselves—far better than Roosevelt—can give the answers.

For the key to the future fiscal policy of the Roosevelt Administration lies in the future policy of the bankers.

In the past that policy was considered by those around the White House as anything but friendly. The bankers were listed as out to wreck the New Deal. And as the past summer wore on, and Young Henry Morganthau faced the problem of refinancing $1,250,000,000 of Liberty Bonds this month, the atmosphere became tense and acrimonious.

Bankers' Strike

Beyond any question of doubt, the big bankers were on strike. "You think your credit is limitless," one Frank Boston banker informed a New Dealer. "But it isn't. You're going to find that you've reached the end of your rope."

More or less the same view was expressed to Young Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, Undersecretary of the Treasury, when he talked the bankers into exchanging his Liberty Bonds for two year notes at 2 1/2 per cent or 10 to 12 year bonds at 3 1/4 per cent. They didn't like the trade. And in the end they served a virtual ultimatum that although they would play ball on this piece of refinancing, it would be the last. Their vaults, they said, already bulged with Government securities. They comprised seventy per cent of bank holdings.

And what the bankers particularly emphasized was the fear that these gilt-edged Government securities, purchased at 100 and 101, might be knocked into a cocked hat by inflation. If they dropped, say to 95 or 93, the banks would be left with only just as much to pay on their deposits.

Bonds Raid

So the Government, warned the bankers, would have to stop borrowing and spending. And to punctuate this warning and show that they meant business raids were started on Government bonds. Home Owners Loan Bonds were raided; then Farm Credit Bonds, and so on, down the line. They were all taken, over the jumps.

The big bankers' drive was not aimed solely at Government securities. It was also supported by Big Business determination to force a showdown with the New Deal regarding the regulation of business.

And the Government's antipathy for the bankers, in turn, was not motivated solely by the latter's drive against Government securities. Treasury officials and the White House were also sore at the way the banks had curtailed credit to private industry.

With a little loosening of credit, they argued, business could really get back on its feet, there would be a modest, but steadily increasing boom.

The result was some secret research by Dr. Jacob Viner and the Treasury Brain Trust. From this grew the idea of the Central Bank.

Fiscal Irony

In other words, the bankers themselves were chiefly responsible for nurturing the idea which they more than anything else, hate.

The idea behind the Central Bank—still supposedly secret—is relatively simple. It has as its chief motive the fact that the Government needs money. Therefore it calls in the $2,800,000,000 gold

DAVEY ARRAIGNS Foe AS "TOOL OF BOSSES"

Says Brown is Supported By Walter Brown, Ed Schorr, Pemberton; Mell Also Talks Tuesday Eve

Martin L. Davey, Democratic nominee for governor, charged his opponent, Clarence J. Brown, of being a "tool of Ohio's Republican political bosses, hand-picked by them and nominated through their efforts," when he addressed a chilled but interested crowd at the court house Tuesday evening.

The address was the fifth Mr. Davey made Tuesday having appeared at Lebanon, Wilmington, Hillsboro and Chillicothe where he was greeted by large gatherings. He is scheduled to appear in Washington, C. H., London, Xenia, Middletown and Hamilton today.

ATTACKS BOSSISM

"Such political bosses as Walter Brown of Toledo, Ed Schorr and his gang of Cincinnati and Dan Brower of Dayton are back of Clarence J. Brown for governor. They picked him and the votes they control nominated him. Do you want a man in the state house who will be governor for that mob?" Dean Pemberton, one of the mightiest lobbyists in the nation, of whom you have read so much, is actually Brown's campaign manager," he declared.

Mr. Davey pledged himself to make Ohio's government business-like, prompt, and economic but efficient.

"The people of Ohio have two alternatives in this election," he said. "The first is whether they return to the old order when the government of the United States was the servant of the great industrialists and the international banks. The other is whether we shall go forward under the great and inspiring leadership of a constructive statesman, a great human president, one who for the first time in 12 years thinks of the American people as human beings. That's the other alternative."

The speaker announced himself in favor of placing most of the relief administration in the hands of the county and township officials because "they know who should have relief and when."

TO AID PENSIONS

A pledge to increase money available for old age pensions was made by the Kent man. A defense of his two-year bond moratorium plan was offered in which Mr. Davey discussed the fact that the new 10-mill tax limitation goes into effect the first of next year which means that money now available for schools and municipalities will be reduced by one-third. "Something must be done," he said, "and while that is being planned the bond moratorium would save the schools, see that the teachers, police and firemen receive their salaries in cash."

"As far as I am concerned," he concluded, "I will keep the schools

BANKERS AWAIT ROOSEVELT TALK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt makes a speech tonight that is awaited with greater interest in banking and financial circles than any he has made since his inaugural when he made the bankers squirm by talking of "driving the money changers from the temple."

His audience tonight will comprise some four thousand bankers, gathered here in the sixtieth convention of the American Bankers' association. Remembering the inaugural, and remembering other criticism that has emanated from Mr. Roosevelt in the past 20 months where they are concerned, the bankers await tonight's speech with some feeling of apprehension.

MRS. DONOFRIE DIES

Mrs. Pearl Donofrie, 32, a native of Ashville, died Tuesday in Gallipolis state hospital. Bronchial pneumonia caused death.

"Petty Jealousy" Charged In Refusal to Turn Over Richetti to Federals; Edgar Hoover Scores "Failure to Aid Government."

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—A determined small town chief of police today balked every effort of the United States department of justice to obtain custody of Adam Richetti, 26, pal and companion of the slain Charles Arthur (Pretty Boy) Floyd.

Failure of Police Chief John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, four miles west of here, to turn Richetti and the machine gun found on him over to the justice department prevents the complete solution of the 1933 Kansas City Union station massacre. Inspector S. P. Cowley, of Washington, declared.

With thousands still fighting to gain entrance to the morgue where the body of Floyd lays, federal officials announced late last night that they were withdrawing from the case after an unsuccessful seven-hour meeting with Wellsville officials.

TO COLUMBIA, MO.

Richetti probably will be turned over to Columbia, Mo., authorities to stand trial for the murder of a Missouri sheriff and a Missouri highway patrolman. Chief Fultz, who captured Richetti and exchanged shots with Floyd Saturday, said today.

SURPRISE VOTE IN BONUS ISSUE

Legislative Committee Against Cash Payment; Would Cost Over Two Billions.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 24.—The proposal for immediate cash payment of world war adjusted service (bonus) certificates was defeated today in the American Legion's legislative committee.

The vote was 39 to 9 against the cash payment.

The minority gave notice it would present report to the convention, which overwhelmingly favors the cash demand.

The bonus, if paid in cash now, would cost the government an outlay of $2,200,000,000. The total value of the certificates was $3,491,652,425 but $1,674,220,289 had been borrowed on them by the veterans, since congress enacted the bonus loan act. Incidentally, 85 per cent of the veterans have borrowed something on their certificates.

One feature of the bonus fight was a change of heart on the part of Rep. Wright Patman (D) of Texas, who served on the subcommittee. Author of cash bonus bills in congress, he joined with opponents of the cash payment plan to draft a substitute. He explained it would be better now to defer payment until the treasury can stand it.

While the bonus issue seethed, the convention faced a cut and dried program in other respects. It will elect Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., of San Francisco, as its national commander for the coming year.

SINCLAIR TRAILS IN DIGEST POLL

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—First figures from California cities, in the poll being taken by the Literary Digest, as announced today show Frank F. Merriam, Republican, leading Upton Sinclair, Democrat, in the gubernatorial race by a margin of about 2 to 1.

The results were:

Oakland—Merriam 5,426; Sinclair 2,672.

Long Beach—Merriam 2,313; Sinclair 1,080.

Sacramento—Merriam 1,324; Sinclair 669.

San Jose—Merriam 1,322; Sinclair 491.

Riverside—Merriam 617; Sinclair 90.

San Pedro—Merriam 230; Sinclair 196.

Of other candidates Haight, Progressive Commonwealth, was far in the lead, with a particularly large vote of 1,669 in Sacramento, which surpassed Sinclair's poll. Only a few votes were recorded for Darcy Communist, and Dempster.

Catholic Priests Ordered to Leave Mexico at Once

Education, Long Mooted Point Between State and Church, Results in Drastic Action; All Catholics Also Ordered Off Payrolls.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24.—

Catholic priests will be ordered to leave every state in Mexico. It was decided today at an important conference at Tehacan, Puebla state, between President Abelardo Rodriguez, former President Plutarco Elias Calles, and President-Elect Cardenas.

Every state government will order the priests to leave its borders, following the examples set by the states of Guerrero, Mexico, Chiapas, and Colima.

Education is the crux of the argument, long-smouldering, between the Mexican governments and the Catholic church. The government accuses the church of fostering "seditious and rebellious" activities in its schools.

In a further move against the Catholics, the government committee of public health ordered the dismissal of every confessed Catholic on its pay-rolls.

Today's move at the Tehacan conference plainly placed the burden of ousting the priests upon the separate state governments, apparently meaning the priests still could seek haven in the federal district in which Mexico City is located, and in other federal territories.

FLOYD GOES HOME

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—Charles ("Pretty Boy") Floyd, who came out of the west to terrorize and meet death in Ohio, returned to his native Oklahoma today.

The cold, lifeless form of the "Prince" of the underworld was encased in a wooden rough box and placed on a train here shortly before noon. It was expected to arrive at Sallisaw, Okla., where it will be claimed by his mother, Mrs. Walter Floyd, sometime Friday.

25 HURT IN RAIL WRECK

Big Four Night Express Leaves Rails at Earl Park, Ind.; Many Ohioans.

EARL PARK, Ind., Oct. 24.—Twenty-five persons suffered injury, several of severe nature, today in a midnight wreck of the Big Four railroad's Chicago-to-Cincinnati night express train near here.

Seven passenger coaches suddenly leaped the rails and overturned as the train sped southward, leaving only two cars and the locomotive on the tracks. The derailed coaches, which included two Pullman cars, piled up on the railroad right-of-way and on the adjacent U. S. highway No. 41.

An immediate investigation was begun by railroad officials who expressed the belief that spreading rails caused the wreck. Twelve of the injured passengers were loaded into passing automobiles and taken to Bundy Keefe hospital here for treatment. Those less seriously hurt were given treatment at farm houses and the offices of physicians at Fowler, Ind. Many were from Ohio.

BRUNO'S TRIAL SET TO START ON JANUARY 2

Date Agreeable to Both Sides Though State Asked Nov. 14 Date

MAN DENIES GUILT

Holiday Disadvantage Is Evaded by Date Chosen

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 24.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, taciturn 35-year-old carpenter accused of murdering the Lindbergh baby, will be brought to trial on January 2nd.

Hauptmann was arraigned before Justice Thomas W. Trenchard in Hunterdon-co court this morning and in a clear voice marked by a thick German accent he pleaded "not guilty."

After hearing counsel for both sides Justice Trenchard set the date of trial.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz wanted to start the trial on November 14.

DATE AGREED ON

Defense counsel James M. Fawcett said he could not possibly be ready for trial sooner than December 11. After some discussion, Wilentz stated that the only suitable date for both sides would be Wednesday, January 2. And that date was satisfactory to the court.

Wilentz pointed out that if December 11 was set for the opening of the trial, the case would run into the Christmas holidays which he thought would be a handicap on the jurors, the witnesses and others involved in the case.

Hauptmann provided the drama in the brief proceedings. Attired in a gray suit, blue shirt and purple tie, the man who is charged with murdering little Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., entered the crowded courtroom at 11:30 a. m. surrounded by four New Jersey state troopers in their bright gray and blue uniforms.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, the prisoner's wife, came into the courtroom at 10:45 a. m. She was wearing a black fur-trimmed coat and small black hat.

The tiny courtroom was jammed. Men and women occupied every seat and there were some standing. The room was filled an hour before court was called to order. In the street, outside, a large crowd had assembled.

TROOPERS ON HAND

A dozen state troopers maintained order, in and outside the courtroom. Automobiles were not allowed to park within a block of the court house.

The crowd within the courtroom was so large that Sheriff John Curtiss put in emergency chairs in an area to the right of the Judge's bench.

MAN SUSPECTED AS GOODRICH IS HELD

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., Oct. 24.—Police today held Earl Parsons of Pennington Gap, Va., on a lingering charge while they studied similarities in his appearance with the description of Merton Ward Goodrich, wanted for the murder of Lillian Gallaheer in Detroit.

A woman resembling the description of Florence Goodrich, wife of the missing Detroit, left here following Parsons' arrest.

Parsons, the woman and another man came here Monday, representing themselves as members of a party of eight which was buying old gold in the eastern Kentucky mountains. The group had headquarters at Pikeville, they said.

The trio stayed at the Valley Inn hotel here Monday night but when Parsons was picked up by officers in the court house here late yesterday, his two companions disappeared. Parsons said they went back to Pikeville for the night but a check of hotels there failed to locate them.

Parsons had acid burns on his fingers, which he said resulted from testing old gold.

BANDIT FLEES LANCASTER-PK 'GAS' STATION

Mrs. Milton Manson's Presence of Mind Frustrates Attempted Robbery

Quick thinking by Mrs. Milton Manson, Lancaster-pk, frustrated an attempted robbery of the service station operated by herself and her husband, Tuesday evening, when a lone youth armed with a revolver demanded the money in the station.

Mrs. Manson was alone at 9:50 when the youth entered and bought a soft drink. He then asked if Mrs. Manson had any

LIQUOR STORE ROBBED

FINDLAY, Oct. 24.—The first holdup of an Ohio liquor store was written into police records today as a hunt was launched for the cool-headed bandit who refused to allow the entrance of a woman customer to worry him.

When the woman entered, the bandit signed to Harry Frost, the store manager, to wait on her. All the while, he kept his gun trained on Frost. When the woman left, the bandit forced Frost to turn over the cash, $100, to him and left.

headlight bulbs and when she turned around to look he asked her, "How'd you like to turn over what money you've taken in today?" To which Mrs. Manson replied "I won't do it."

TURNED OFF LIGHTS

The bandit jerked a revolver from his pocket and while menacing her with the weapon ordered her to enter a room just off the front room. Mrs. Manson entered and immediately pulled a light switch which extinguished every light in the building. In a moment she heard the youth leave by the front door.

She called the sheriff's office and, although a search was made of all highways in the vicinity, the youth made a getaway. He was described as between 20 and 24 years of age, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall and weighing 140 pounds. He was also wearing a light cap, Mrs. Manson said. Whether he had accomplices is not certain. It is believed he escaped in a Ford coupe driving toward Lancaster.

FLASHED OVER STATE

A report of the attempted hold-up was flashed over the state highway patrol's network but no trace has been found of the bandit.

This morning a filling station robbery was reported in Zanesville by a youth of the same description as the one who tried to rob Mrs. Manson. A girl was reported with the Zanesville robber. All members of the sheriff's office and police department took part in the search for the Manson station bandit.

JUDGE'S SENTENCE UPHOLD BY COURT

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—The state supreme court today affirmed the judgment of Scioto-co court which found Municipal Judge Horace L. Small, Portsmouth, guilty on an intoxication charge and fined him $100.

He was convicted in common pleas court in appealing. Judge Small contended that common pleas courts have no original jurisdiction in intoxication cases and that he should have been tried in a justice of the peace or mayor's court.

TWO AMERICAN AVIATORS LOST IN WILDS, FEAR

DUTCH IN SECOND

Turner in Thrilling Finish, Nearly Gains

MELBOURNE, Oct. 24.—Two swift and luxurious airplanes manufactured in the United States won second and third places in the London to Melbourne derby today as anxiety began to develop concerning the safety of the American team of John Wright and John Polando.

Far behind the leaders, Wright and Polando left Baghdad in the Lambourn monocoque at 5:10 a. m. E. S. T. yesterday, and more than 24 hours later, no word had been heard of them.

The route they planned to follow from Baghdad would take them over the mountains and deserts of Persia, inhabited only by semi-civilized tribes, and a forced landing anywhere on the course might keep them out of touch with the world for many hours.

TURNER CLOSE THIRD

The two American-built planes which roared into Melbourne today competed in a thrilling finish, with only two hours and 44 minutes separating them.

Nearly nosed out of second place when they bogged in a forced landing for ten hours 162 miles from their goal, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll of the Netherlands roared across the Flemington race course at 9:52 a. m. local time (7:52 p. m. E. S. T. Tuesday).

Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, defeated because they, too, were forced down midway between Charleville and Melbourne, took third money by finishing at 10:36 p. m. Tuesday E. S. T. Trouble with their old line at Charleville, after they had gained on the Dutch team in the long dash from Darwin, delayed the Americans again, and it was this difficulty that brought them down in the rain at Bourke, one hour 40 minutes out of Charleville.

TRAPPED IN MUD

They lost an hour, 20 minutes there.

COLUMBUS FACING LOSS OF PWA FUND

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—The withdrawal of all PWA funds from the $10,000,000 works project program in Columbus was feared here today following a letter to Mayor Henry Worley from Washington officials asking complete information on the city's financial situation.

From the tone of the letter, which was written by C. B. Shapard, city officials understood that unless they were enabled to finance the city's share in the projects more successfully, all PWA aid would be withdrawn and some 2,000 men thrown out of employment.

A deficiency bond issue for $746,400, up for approval of the voters in the coming election, was seen as a solution of the problem.

EMERGENCY SCHOOL MONEY IS ASSURED

Continuation of the emergency school program which is progressing nicely here was assured today when George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, received word from state headquarters that $1,598.50 has been appropriated to continue the school at least until February 1.

The money was appropriated to finance the school through September, October, November, December and January.

At present the school, located in Memorial Hall, has 44 pupils with J. O. Eagleson, as supervisor in charge.

BIRTHS

Red-Black, Harassed By Injuries, Plays Thursday

Circleville's Tigers have a record to live up to Thursday afternoon when Westerville comes here for a Central Buckeye league fray. The Franklin-co team has never defeated Circleville in this city. Two years ago in the last appearance of the Westerville team the Tigers won their last football game.

Let's hope they can start anew with Westerville as the foe.

But the task outlined for Coach Herbert Hertz is a difficult one. The Bell regular quarterback, as in Sabina where a relative is seriously ill, Bob Watts is still out with an infected foot. Ned Plum is nursing a bruised tendon and Norrie Coleman, who seems to have struck the stride is expected of him, has an injured wrist.

Those injuries do not include a cut over his right eye which John McGinnis suffered in scrimmage Tuesday evening. Two stitches were required to close the wound but Johnny says he's ready to play Thursday.

With Bell gone the Tiger men are expected to use either Friley, who has been starting at end, or Henry, a sophomore halfback, at the signal-barking position. Grant and Osborne would line up as ends if Friley goes to the backfield with McGinnis snatching the center berth.

The game starts at 3 o'clock with Vic Kolb, of Ohio Wesleyan, an Ohio conference official, and Leroy Boyd, of Lancaster, as the officials.

A good game is expected since Westerville has a fairly strong eleven headed by Collier and Ballenger. Frank Ballenger is the coach of the invading squad.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

GEORGE COLVILLE HEADS STRONG TEAM

To a Circleville youth may go the honor of heading the strongest swimming team Ohio State has ever boasted—He is George Colville, who was elected captain of Coach Mike Peppe's outfit at the conclusion of the last season.

In Peppe's first call for swimmers 30 reported and among this group were all the mainstays of the all-American frosh team of 1933-34 besides six lettermen—Colville is a breaststroker; other lettermen are Harry Volk, Cleveland; Homer Hagaman, Cleveland; Boyd Graham, Dayton; George Burrell, Akron, and Dick Figley, Canton.

The mighty freshman team of last year provides the clever Baker Bryant, of Bexley; Jim Williams, Hamilton; Ray Kessler, Dayton; Dexter Woodford, Akron; Charles Salle, Cincinnati, and Russ Kirbert, also of that town.

THREE IN A ROW

Ohio State fans will have an opportunity of seeing three splendid football games, one after the other when Chicago, Michigan, and Iowa appear in the order named—The Buckeyes are away Saturday at Evanston against Northwestern, then go to Cleveland to meet Sam Williamson's Western Reserve outfit. Then come the three conference foci.

We had some word last week from Louie Bagent, who tried out for halfback on the high school football team his freshman year, which was last year—He is now enrolled at South high school, Columbus, where he is on the reserve squad—Rodney Ross, who is handling the reserves, says much is expected of the youth in his junior and senior years.

It might help some to quit calling these gun-toting kids "bad men" and sentence them to a public spanking.

BUCK INJURED SHOWING GAIN; SQUADS MATCH

Schmidt Expected To Have Full Strength Against Northwestern Outfit.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—Apparently evenly matched, a Scarlet team which has not developed as rapidly as was hoped and a purple eleven which is steadily advancing will clash at Evanston Saturday when Ohio State and Northwestern meet in their annual gridiron classic.

This will be the third Western Conference struggle for the Buckeyes. They have a 33 to 0 win over Indiana and a 13 to 14 defeat from Illinois on the record. Last Saturday Northwestern was idle while Ohio State was going through a bruising 10 to 7 victory over Colgate.

The condition of the Ohio eleven is worrying Coach Francis Schmidt more than anything else this week. Saturday he was forced to play Colgate with his star halfback, Dick Heckler, on the bench. Jack Smith, the other regular halfback, was allowed in the game only long enough to make the winning touchdown.

OTHERS BUMPED

Added to the list of injured after the Colgate game were Stan Pincura, quarterback, John Bettridge, sub fullback; Frank Fisch, quarter and halfback, and Dick Beltz, another halfback. None of the boys is injured seriously, although the coach must give them two or three days of rest this week and will not be able to work them as hard as he had hoped.

Northernwestern has an edge in scouting dope inasmuch as the purple have seen the Bucks in action in all three games. Schmidt's scouts have looked at the purple only twice as no one was sent to the coast when Northwestern played Stanford.

With the proper nursing, Schmidt may be able to throw his strongest team against Northwestern Saturday. If not his lineup will be a big question mark right up to the beginning whistle. The new Ohio mentor has pretty well made up his mind on the personnel of the line with Rees and Wendt at ends; Harre and Hamrick at tackles; Monahan and Inwood Smith at guards; and Gomer Jones at center. It's the back field that is putting more gray hairs in Schmidt's head.

BOBCATS PREPARE FOR MARSHALL 11

ATHENS, Oct. 24.—Having come out of the knock 'em down and drag 'em out affair with Miami in pretty fair condition the Ohio University Bobcats are pointing to the Dad's Day game with Marshall this Saturday when the Big Green team invades Ohio stadium.

Marshall surprised a fine Ohio team and everyone else last year by holding the Bobcats to a 0-0 deadlock at Fairfield Stadium in the first game played between the two schools since 1920. That year Ohio won 55-0. Ohio also won in 1915, 21-7, and the first game played between Ohio and Marshall in 1911 ended 5-5.

WILLS STILL HURT

Though several of the Bobcats are still tied to the bench with injuries, the squad is in as good shape as it has been at any other time this season. Wills is out again, and the condition of DeStefano's leg is not very encouraging, but the remainder of the squad is ready to meet Captain Zontini and his Big Green colleagues.

Marshall has never defeated an Ohio team and it will be the West Virginians' biggest chance. Ohio has not been playing up to the true Ohio standard and has not defeated a major opponent this year. The Bobcats fell before Indiana, and last Saturday gave way to Miami in the last minute of play after a blocked kick.

TEAM BELOW PAR

Those two defeats have put the Bobcat in a very bad position. Another loss and it will be the worst Ohio season in several autumns, and the year was forecast as one of the best. It means that from now on you can expect a Bobcat that will be fighting with its back to the wall, and that is where the Bobcat is most dangerous.

Last night, Inspector Cowley virtually repeated his chief's charges and criticism. He declared it was the greatest set-back the government has had since its crime campaign was initiated following the Lindbergh kidnapping.

JEALOUSY OF PURVIS

He said that he tried for 48 hours to persuade Wellsville officials to turn Ricchetti over to the government and said that they refused, "evidently because of jealousy" of Melvin H. Purvis, the ace federal manhunter, who led in the killing of John Dillinger and the slaying of Floyd, near here.

LABOR TO SUPPORT MUSKINGUM PROJECT

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—William Green president of the American Federation of Labor today had heartily endorsed the $35,000,000 Muskingum conservancy project as "a rare opportunity for the people in the area to secure flood protection and to create work opportunities for hundreds of idle people."

"In my opinion it is a sound project, both from an economic and conservancy point of view," Green declared or a recent visit to his home in Coshocton during an interview with a conservancy district official. "The benefits secured will be far in excess to the cost."

Discovery of Newfoundland

Although the Icelandic sagas relate that Lief Ericson and his crew discovered Newfoundland about 1000 A. D., the first authentic discovery is accredited to John Cabot. In 1497, Cabot, a Genoese navigator, obtained a charter from King Henry VII of England to seek new territory in the New World which Columbus had discovered five years earlier. Cabot reached a port in the "New Founde Land" on the feast day of St. John, and the name of St. John's was given to the principal harbor.

Mr. Davey urged the election of every person on the Democratic ticket speaking a good word for Vic Donahy and for Moll G. Underwood.

"Two weeks from tonight," the speaker stated, "you will be hearing elections. When they are all counted Vic Donahy will be elected over Dr. Fess by half a million votes and I will not be far behind."

GREETED BY TORCHES
The nominee, who was brought here from Chillicothe by a police escort and greeted outside the city by a "torch light" procession, was escorted to Columbus after his address by Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

In addition to Mr. Davey, the audience heard Joseph T. Ferguson, candidate for state treasurer, and Dennis Dunleavy, representing Vic Donahy.

Moll G. Underwood, New Lexington congressman, who spoke on the same platform with Davey in Chillicothe, arrived just before Mr. Davey had concluded his talk. He spoke for a short time on the issues of the campaign and called attention to Renick W. Dunlap being a registered voter of Franklin-co and that he had not cast a ballot in this district until after he announced his candidacy earlier in the year.

"Certainly there are plenty of eligible and qualified Republicans in the district, who have the necessary qualifications to serve this district in congress without importing a gentleman like Dunlap from Columbus to make the race," he said.

The school band played prior to the opening of the meeting and some of its members rode in a truck which greeted Davey's procession. The candidate was highly pleased with his reception here.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, put on a swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down and out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25-cent drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

EASTERN STAR HAS MEETING TUESDAY

About fifty members enjoyed the bimonthly meeting of the Circulville chapter Order of the Eastern Star Tuesday evening.

During the business meeting Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, a past matron, was acting worthy matron in the absence of Mrs. Leslie May, who is attending Grand chapter in Cleveland. Mrs. George Bentley acted as associate matron for Mrs. E. I. Gephart, who is also attending Grand chapter.

Following the business thirteen past worthy matrons and two past patrons were introduced as the honor guests of the evening.

A program was then presented including two dance numbers by Viola Mae Alkire, who was accompanied at the piano by Eleanor Vandervort. The latter also accompanied a violin solo played by her sister Evelyn Pierce.

Miss Mary May Haswell in her pleasing manner sang two selections with Mrs. George Bentley at the piano.

Patty Bennett, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Carl Bennett, entertained with two musical readings.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session with Miss Virginia Marion, Mrs. G. H. Adkins and Mrs. Robert Denman as the committee in charge.

GROUP ENJOYS PARTY IN COLUMBUS TUESDAY

Miss Anna Merz, of Columbus, delightfully entertained the members of her former bridge club of this city and several additional guests at her home, Tuesday evening.

Bridge was enjoyed at two tables during the pleasant evening and prizes were awarded Mrs. Mary Morris, Miss Margaret Crist and Mrs. Lena Thatcher.

A delicious lunch was served at the small tables late in the evening.

Guests were Miss Helen Rowe, Mrs. Lena Thatcher, Miss Mary Ebert, Miss Katherine Wefler, Mrs. Erma Gehres, Misses Martha and Margaret Crist, Misses Nell and Minnie Mason, Mrs. Mary Morris and Miss Magdalene Trump, this city.

DINNER CLUB MEETS AT BOGGS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. John Boggs, W. Union-st., were hosts Tuesday evening when they entertained the members of their dinner club at their home.

The dinner at 6:30 o'clock was followed by an enjoyable evening of bridge.

Covers at the dinner were laid by Mr. and Mrs. George P. Fores, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Tom Harmon and the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, S. Court-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

MRS. WHITE WILL BE HONORED AT PARTIES

The first of a number of parties being planned for Mrs. Don White (Ann Hathaway), whose marriage was recently announced, and who will reside in this city after Nov. 1, was a dinner-bridge Monday evening given by Miss Dorothy Gartner of Chillicothe.

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock she will be honor guest at a dinner bridge at Moore's Platinum Grill given by Phi Beta Psi.

Thursday afternoon she will share honors with Miss Peggy Courtwright bride-elect of John D. Blosser of Chillicothe, at a bridge tea to be given by Miss Ann Bennett, S. Court-st.

Mrs. Henry Breth of Carlisle Hill, Chillicothe, will be hostess at a buffet supper, Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, complimenting Mrs. White and Wednesday, Oct. 31, Mrs. Howard Goldsberry, Chillicothe, will entertain with a dinner party.

Two other parties are being arranged but the dates have not been definitely decided. They are a bridge luncheon at which Mrs. Dave Towell will be hostess and a bridge tea to be given by Miss Dorothy Dunlap, both of Chillicothe.

GROUP HONORS LOIS NEFF ON BIRTHDAY

As a pleasant surprise to Miss Lois Neff, of Stoutsville, on her birthday anniversary a group of friends gathered at her home Monday evening for dinner and bridge. The affair also celebrated the birthday of Miss Katherine Kirkpatrick.

Dinner was followed by bridge and at the conclusion of play high score award went to Miss Myriam Hitchcock. Miss Neff and Miss Kirkpatrick were presented lovely gifts from the group.

Enjoying the evening were Miss Pauline Thomas and Miss Martha Neff of Stoutsville, Mrs. Myra Rader, Miss Mary Ellen Phillips, Miss Myriam Hitchcock, Miss Virginia Nelson, Miss Alice Briggs, Miss Kirkpatrick, this city, and Miss Neff.

DINNER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, E. Mound-st., entertained a group of friends at a dinner party, Tuesday evening, at her home honoring Mr. Carpenter on his birthday anniversary.

Covers at the attractively appointed table lighted with yellow tapers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Speakman, Miss Virginia Given, Miss Helen Crist, Charles Goeller, Hillard Gehres, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter and son, James.

Bridge was enjoyed after the dinner.

MRS. LAMB ENTERTAINS BRIDGE CLUB MEMBERS

Mrs. Sterling Lamb, S. Court-st., entertained the members of her bridge club at her home, Tuesday evening.

Two tables of contract bridge were in play and when scores were counted Mrs. Joseph Burns was found winner of the trophy. Miss Hazel Palm was a substituting guest.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The club will meet next week with Miss Thelma O'Hara, S. Court-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson F. Cellar, Montclair-ave., have returned from a ten days' motor trip to Chattanooga, Gatlinburg and Knoxville, Tenn.

Cuteness Wins $10,000 Prize

Being adjudged the cutest baby in America is quite a distinction, but it doesn't make a high-brow out of little Marilyn Yvonne Miller, of Pierre, S. D. She looks on, as cute as she can, while her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Miller, inspect the $10,000 check she received in the nation-wide baby contest, conducted by a commercial company.

Enrich with Milk

Milk dishes have long been recognized as a great source of required nourishment, and the newly introduced vitamin treated, canned milk is a food product worthy of recognition. Fresh milk may always be substituted in recipes calling for diluted canned milk, and the same richness can be produced when the recipe calls for unthinned canned milk, by using cream or milk with a small amount of butter. The butter is suggested here simply as a flavor increasing agent.

A full flavored soup, and one that is attractive to serve, is cream of pimiento. Make it like this:

Cream of Pimiento Soup

- 3 C. water
- 4 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. chopped onion
- 4 pimientos, pressed through a sieve
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 2 Tbsp. water
- 2 C. canned milk
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

Dissolve bouillon cubes in 3 C. boiling water, add chopped onion and pimientos. Blend flour and water for thickening, and add to soup mixture. Cook for 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add milk and seasonings. Heat thoroughly and serve at once.

Potato flour or left over mashed potatoes have long been used as a starch flavor of great popularity. Potato pancakes for breakfast or supper make a filling and uncommon dish.

Potato Pancakes

- 1 C. bread flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 C. left over mashed potatoes
- 2 well beaten eggs
- 1/2 C. milk (canned)
- 3/4 C. water or 1 1/4 C. whole milk
- 2 Tbsp. hot fat

Sift flour before measuring, and resift it with baking powder added. Mix together mashed potatoes and eggs and add flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat with a rotary egg beater to blend thoroughly. Bake on a hot griddle until brown, or fry in hot fat. This recipe makes two dozen pancakes.

The elder Robinson was held under $25,000 bond.

Sauce for Asparagus and Broccoli

Scald 1/4 C. canned milk in the top of a double boiler. Pour into a small bowl and chill until icy cold before whipping. Put 3 Tbsp. soft butter and 2 unbeaten egg yolks in the top of a double boiler. Add 2 Tbsp. lemon juice, 1/4 C. water and 1/2 tsp. salt. Cook for 3 minutes, beating constantly with a rotary egg beater. Chill thoroughly. Whip chilled milk vigorously until stiff. Fold into cold egg mixture. Sauce serves six.

The camel is about the only creature that cannot swim. It is buoyant enough, but there is something wrong with its balance, so that it's head goes under water and it drowns.

IMPRESSIVE LIST OF EVENTS SUNDAY AT LEGION MEETING

JACKSON, Oct. 24.—With the announcement today of the complete program of events, all plans for the coming Eighth District American Legion Conference in Jackson on October 28th were brought to completion.

On that day Jackson will be the center of attention for all Legionnaires throughout southern Ohio, with indications pointing to a record attendance from every county in this area.

Although the entire day will be taken up with various events, the feature of the conference will be the drum corps competition in the evening, a total of 16 corps having already officially entered that contest to vie for the $500 in prize money.

Corps will compete from Dover, Nelsonville, Murray City, Ironton, Gallipolis, Portsmouth, Parkersburg, Athens, Bremen, Wellston, Jackson, Chillicothe, the Chillicothe Boy Scouts, Pomeroy, Norwood and Dayton. A band competition will also be held with entries from Jackson, Ashland, Ky., and the Soldiers and Sailors home in Dayton.

The drum corps prizes will be from $250 down; the afternoon parade prize will be $25 and the band prize will be $25. The district cup, now held by the Wellston Post, will be awarded the winner of the drum corps competition.

Following the parade, which will be 18 blocks long, the drum corps profit now on deposit with the Federal Reserve Banks, brings these Federal Reserve Banks into the New Central Bank.

Using this $2,800,000,000 as a base, the Central Bank issues new currency. If, instead, the Treasury issued this new currency it could issue only up to $2,800,000,000. For Treasury notes must have a backing of 100 per cent.

And that is the big motive behind the Central Bank. It would not need a 100 per cent note coverage. Coverage for Federal Reserve notes is 40 per cent. So with the Federal Reserve, the gold nest egg of $2,800,000,000 becomes $7,000,000,000 in paper money.

Thus Government bills are paid. It sounds like financial legerdemain, and to a certain extent it is. That is one reason Young Henry Morgenthau—despite his expertise—shies away from it. So also does the President. Both would rather stick to the good old-fashioned method of raising money by borrowing from the bankers.

But if the bankers' credit

DELICATE INSTRUMENTS TO DETERMINE PICCARDS' SUCCESS

Woman Thrilled; Land Near Cadiz

CADIZ, O., Oct. 24.—Intricate instruments carried by Prof. and Mrs. Jean Piccard in their gondola approximately 10 miles above the earth today held the secret of either their success or failure to achieve the aim of their stratosphere flight.

They sought a solution to science's latest riddle—the nature and origin of that mysterious form of energy known as the cosmic rays. Both the professor and his wife, a mother of three young sons who was "thrilled" by her first stratosphere adventure, proclaimed the flight a success.

PROFESSOR LIMPING

Mrs. Piccard was not hurt in the landing but the professor suffered a slight injury to his ankle. He limped slightly but it was believed the injury was only of a minor nature.

After seven hours and 10 minutes of floating through clouds, and above clouds far beyond the sight of an anxious, interested world below, Professor and Mrs. Piccard brought the huge gondola to a safe, gentle landing in a small woods four miles west of here.

"I made a rotten landing," said the youthful looking wife of the tall, slender scientist who is a brother of the famous Auguste Piccard.

"I feel certain the adventure was a success," observed the man whose long, grayish hair was ruffled by an autumn breeze. "All conditions were favorable. The only thing I regret is the loss of the bag."

The professor referred to the gas bag which caught in a tree and was ripped when the balloon dropped into the picturesque woods.

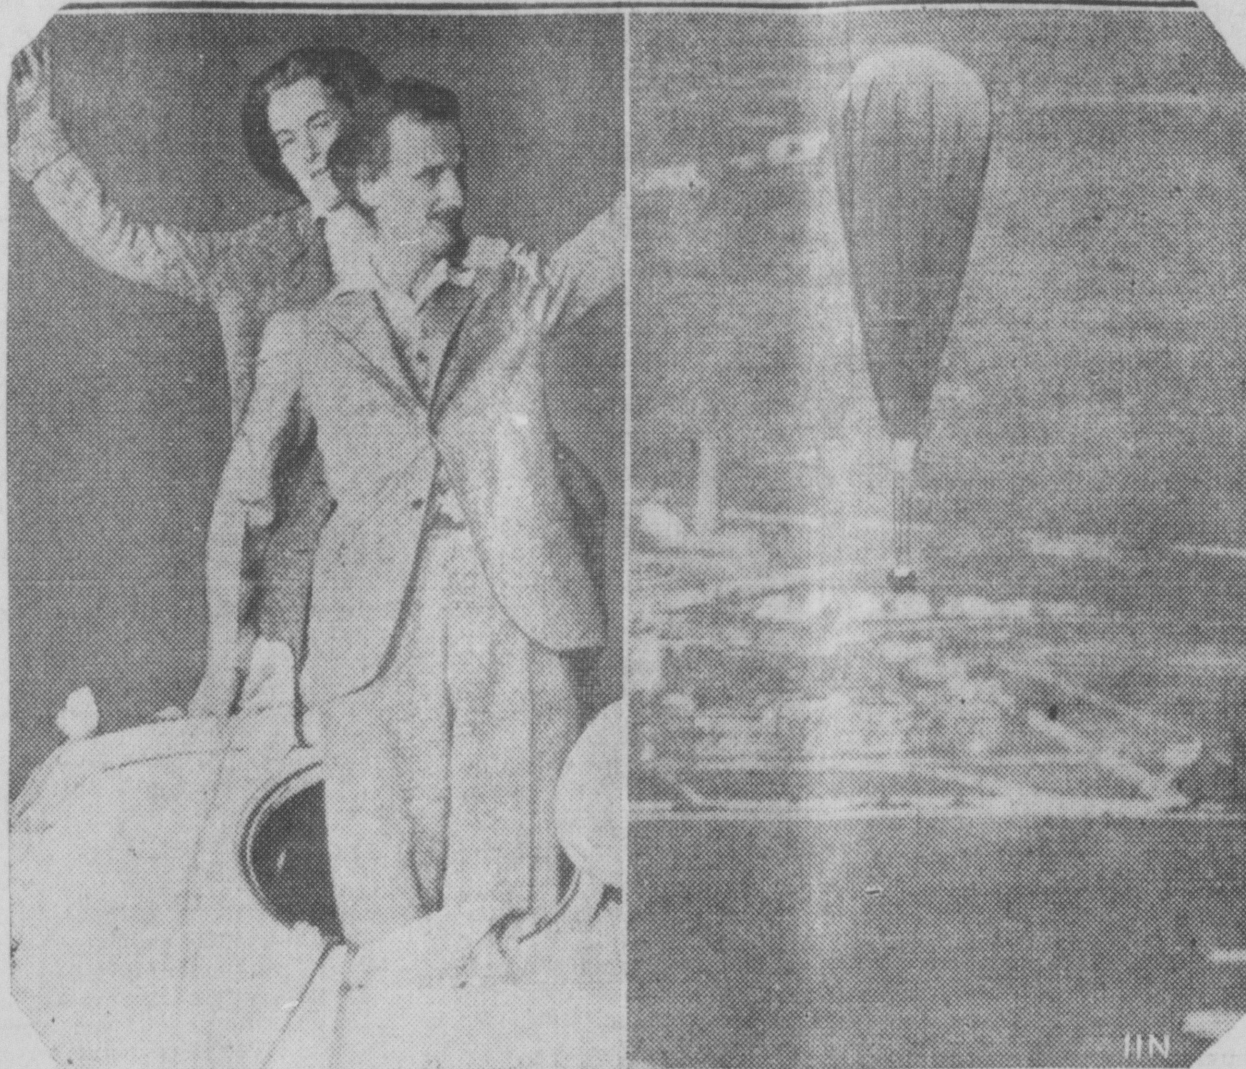

"Everything went nicely," commented Mrs. Piccard who remained calm and quiet obviously unperturbed by the attention she received from the crowds of curious and souvenir seekers.

BAD LOW CEILING

Questioned about her experiences and whether either she or her husband was excited at any time during the flight, Mrs. Piccard replied: "We were not nervous or excited but were anxious because it was a very low ceiling. 'Clouds are always lovely. First we went through clear atmosphere and then we struck the clouds. It was like a thick fog. It was lovely when we first got above them. They formed a solid carpet of white below us and they retained this distinct color during the time we were above them.'"

The flight was so interesting to the first woman who ever penetrated the stratosphere that she would go again "if I get a chance." But the Piccards have made no plans and think it entirely too early to discuss the possibility of another flight. They are satisfied with the recent achievement although a new altitude record was not set. Taken from the gondola and sealed, the paragraph must be sent to the National Aeronautical association at Washington before the altitude can be definitely established. Both, however, estimated it was about 10 miles or approximately 53,000 feet.

As Piccards Took Off on Stratosphere Flight

Apparatus used in taking pictures in the study of the cosmic rays was unharmed in the landing. It will be sent to Dr. W. F. G. Swann at Swarthmore college and to Dr. Robert Milliken at Pasadena, California, for study. "It will take weeks of intensive study and correlation before any definite conclusion is reached on the results of our flight," the smiling woman who piloted the balloon while her husband operated the delicate instruments said. "We really can't say any more on it now."

lightened machine from the mud and sped on to Melbourne.

Sir MacPherson Robertson, donor of the $75,000 prize, was overjoyed at the feat of the two American commercial machines.

In an interview, he said that he was glad that a British machine had won, but "I consider that the Dutch and American planes achieved what I had in mind."

"I had not thought of a mad rush across the world. I wanted to test the possibilities of better transport."

Parmentier and Moll may have to be content with the $7,500 prize for second in the speed grid.

Turner and Pangborn were entered only in the handicap race.

The result of the handicap race will not be known until November 5. All the planes entered were allowed 16 days to finish the course. They will be permitted, within that limit, to remain as long as they want at checking stations, only their actual flying time being considered.

OTHERS IN AUSTRALIA

One other machine, bearing Lieut. Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller of Britain, had reached Australia. They arrived at Darwin at 10:15 p. m., E. S. T., Tuesday, and took off for Charleville at 11:46 p. m., E. S. T., Tuesday. Squadron Leader Malcolm MacGregor and Henry Walker of New Zealand left Singapore to fly over the Dutch East Indies at 2:45 a. m., E. S. T.

J. D. Hewitt and C. E. Kay were close behind their New Zealand countrymen. They were sighted at 2:10 a. m., E. S. T., flying from Akub, Burma, to Bangkok, Siam.

Squadron Leader D. E. Stodart and R. G. Stodart of Britain arrived at Calcutta at 3:54 a. m., E. S. T.

Charles Melrose of Australia arrived at Jodhpur at 1:11 a. m., E. S. T.

Scott and Black were certain of the $50,000 first award, and there was a slight possibility that they might also take the $10,000 first prize in the handicap race, if officials will permit one machine to win in both divisions.

The fact that the Dutch team sent their passengers on into Melbourne by train, and lost 10 hours at Albany, which was not a checking point, may cost them the first handicap prize.

Both sexes have their woes. An athlete is sunk, too, if his legs aren't good.

SALT CREEK-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

SCHOOL FAIR

Approximately 1,700 to 2,000 people visited the Saltcreek-twp school building on Friday, Oct. 19, the day of the school fair. The agriculture class under the efficient leadership of Principal H. A. Strous sponsored the project. The class organized the departments, made the posters and signs, prize and entry tickets, solicited for contributions, and arranged the tables and space needed by each department.

The total number of entries was 1,450. Seventy-five families in the grades and high school made entries.

The judges of baked goods, fancy work were Mrs. Huddle, canned fruits and vegetables, and Miss Dillon, and Mrs. Kefauver of Stoutsville.

Mr. Bradley of Pickaway and W. R. Sunderland of Centralia school judged grains, fresh fruits and vegetables, livestock, pets, aquarium, and antiques.

The judges worked both afternoon and evening to complete their work. They reported that they had never seen exhibits at a school fair of such wide variety and high quality as those exhibited here.

The restaurant in the science room under the supervision of Miss Bernelle Goodman, was well patronized. Every class stand concession reported a "sell-out" before the close of the evening.

Bankers Fear Central Bank Because it Means Currency Inflation

WASHINGTON—As members of the American Bankers association gather to hear the President here tonight the chief questions uppermost in their minds are:

1. Is there to be inflation this winter?

2. Is there to be a Central Bank?

The two are interdependent. If there is a Central Bank there is sure to be inflation. Probably without a Central Bank there will be no inflation. And whether or not the President attempts to reply to their questions, the real fact is that the bankers themselves—far better than Roosevelt—can give the answers.

For the key to the future fiscal policy of the Roosevelt Administration lies in the future policy of the bankers.

In the past that policy was considered by those around the White House as anything but friendly. The bankers were listed as out to wreck the New Deal. And as the past summer wore on, and Young Henry Morgenthau faced the problem of refinancing $1,250,000,000 of Liberty Bonds this month, the atmosphere became tense and acrimonious.

Bankers' Strike

Beyond any question of doubt, the big bankers were on strike. "You think your credit is limitless," one frank Boston banker informed a New Dealer. "But it isn't. You're going to find that you've reached the end of your rope."

More or less the same view was expressed to Young Thomas Jefferson Coolidge, Undersecretary of the Treasury, when he talked the bankers into exchanging his Liberty Bonds for two year notes at 2 1/2 per cent or 10 to 12 year bonds at 3 1/2 per cent. They didn't like the trade. And in the end they served a virtual ultimatum that although they would play ball on this piece of refinancing it would be the last. Their vaults, he said, already bulged with Government securities. They comprised seventy per cent of bank holdings. And what the bankers particularly emphasized was the fear that these gilt-edged Government securities, purchased at 100 and 101, might be knocked into a cocked hat by inflation. If they dropped, say to 95 or 93, the banks would be left with only just as much to pay on their deposits.

Bonds Raid

So the Government, warned the bankers, would have to stop borrowing and spending. And to punctuate this warning and show that the Government meant business, raids were started on Government bonds. Home Owners Loan Bonds were raided; then Farm Credit Bonds, and so on, down the line. They were all taken over the jumps.

The big bankers' drive was not aimed solely at Government securities. It was also supported by Big Business determination to force a showdown with the New Deal regarding the regulation of business. And the Government's antipathy for the bankers, in turn, was not motivated solely by the latter's drive against Government securities. Treasury officials and the White House were also sore at the way the banks had curtailed credit to private industry.

With a little loosening of credit, they argued, business could really get back on its feet, there would be a modest, but steadily increasing boom.

The result was some secret research by Dr. Jacob Viner and the Treasury Brain Trust. From this grew the idea of the Central Bank.

Fiscal Irony

In other words, the bankers themselves were chiefly responsible for nurturing the idea which they more than any other group, hate.

The idea behind the Central Bank—still supposedly secret—is relatively simple. It has as its chief motive the fact that the Government needs money. Therefore it calls in the $2,800,000,000 gold (Continued on Page Five)

DAVEY ARRAIGNS FOE AS "TOOL OF BOSSES"

Says Brown is Supported By Walter Brown, Ed Schorr, Pemberton; Mell Also Talks Tuesday Eve

Martin L. Davey, Democratic nominee for governor, charged his opponent, Clarence J. Brown, of being a "tool of Ohio's Republican political bosses, hand-picked by them and nominated through their efforts," when he addressed a chilled but interested crowd at the court house Tuesday evening.

The address was the fifth Mr. Davey made Tuesday having appeared at Lebanon, Wilmington, Hillsboro and Chillicothe where he was greeted by large gatherings. He is scheduled to appear in Washington C. H., London, Xenia, Middletown and Hamilton today.

ATTACKS BOSSISM

"Such political bosses as Walter Brown of Toledo, Ed Schorr and Dan Brower of Dayton are back of Clarence J. Brown for governor. They picked him and the votes they control nominated him. Do you want a man in the state house who will be governor for that mob? Dean Pemberton, one of the mightiest lobbyists in the nation, of whom you have read so much, is actually Brown's campaign manager," he declared.

Mr. Davey pledged himself to make Ohio's government businesslike, prompt, and economic but efficient.

"The people of Ohio have two alternatives in this election," he said. "The first is whether they return to the old order when the government of the United States was the servant of the great industrialists and the international banks. The other is whether we shall go forward under the great and inspiring leadership of a constitutional statesman, a great human president, who for the first time in 12 years thinks of the American people as human beings. That's the other alternative."

The speaker announced himself in favor of placing most of the relief administration in the hands of the county and township officials because "they know who should have relief and when."

TO AID PENSIONS

A pledge to increase money available for old age pensions was made by the Kent man.

A defense of his two-year bond moratorium plan was offered in which Mr. Davey discussed the fact that the new 10-mill tax limitation goes into effect the first of next year which means that money now available for schools and municipalities will be reduced by one-third. "Something must be done," he said, "and while that is being planned the bond moratorium would save the schools, see that the teachers, police and firemen receive their salaries in cash."

"As far as I am concerned," he concluded, "I will keep the schools (Continued on Page Two)

BANKERS AWAIT ROOSEVELT TALK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt makes a speech tonight that is awaited with greater interest in banking and financial circles than any he has made since his inaugural when he made the bankers quiver by talking of "driving the money changers from the temple."

His audience tonight will comprise some four thousand bankers, gathered here in the sixtieth convention of the American Bankers' association. Remembering the inaugural, and remembering other criticism that has emanated from Mr. Roosevelt in the past 20 months where they are concerned, the bankers await tonight's speech with some feeling of apprehension.

"Petty Jealousy" Charged In Refusal to Turn Over Richetti to Federal; Edgar Hoover Scores "Failure to Aid Government"

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—A determined small town chief of police today balked every effort of the United States department of justice to obtain custody of Adam Richetti, 26, pal and companion of the slain Charles Arthur (Pretty Boy) Floyd.

Failure of Police Chief John H. Fultz, of Wellsville, four miles west of here, to turn Richetti and the machine gun found on him over to the justice department prevents the complete solution of the 1933 Kansas City Union station massacre, Inspector S. P. Cowley, of Washington, declared.

With thousands still fighting to gain entrance to the morgue where the body of Floyd lays, federal officials announced late last night that they were withdrawing from the case after an unsuccessful seven-hour meeting with Wellsville officials.

TO COLUMBIA, MO.

Richetti probably will be turned over to Columbia, Mo., authorities to stand trial for the murder of a Missouri sheriff and a Missouri highway patrolman, Chief Fultz, who captured Richetti and exchanged shots with Floyd Sunday, said today.

SURPRISE VOTE IN BONUS ISSUE

Legislative Committee Against Cash Payment; Would Cost Over Two Billions.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 24.—The proposal for immediate cash payment of world war adjusted service (bonus) certificates was defeated today in the American Legion's legislative committee.

The vote was 39 to 9 against the cash payment. The minority gave notice it would present a report to the convention, which overwhelmingly favors the cash demand. The bonus, if paid in cash now, would cost the government an outlay of $2,200,000,000. The total value of the certificates was $3,491,652,425 but $1,674,220,289 had been borrowed on them by the veterans, since congress enacted the bonus loan act. Incidentally, 85 per cent of the veterans have borrowed something on their certificates.

One feature of the bonus fight was a change of heart on the part of Rep. Wright Patman (D) of Texas, who served on the subcommittee. Author of cash bonus bills in congress, he joined with opponents of the cash payment plan to draft a substitute. He explained it would be better now to defer payment until the treasury can stand it. While the bonus issue seethed, the convention faced a cut and dried program in other respects. It will elect Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., of San Francisco, as its national commander for the coming year.

SINCLAIR TRAILS IN DIGEST POLL

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—First figures from California cities, in the poll being taken by the Literary Digest, as announced today show Frank F. Merriam, Republican, leading Upton Sinclair, Democrat, in the gubernatorial race by a margin of about 2 to 1. The results were: Oakland—Merriam 5,426; Sinclair 2,672. Long Beach—Merriam 2,313; Sinclair 1,080. Sacramento—Merriam 1,324; Sinclair 669. San Jose—Merriam 1,322; Sinclair 491. Riverside—Merriam 647; Sinclair 90. San Pedro—Merriam 230; Sinclair 196. Of other candidates Haight, Progressive-Commonwealth, was far in the lead, with a particularly large vote of 1,669 in Sacramento, which surpassed Sinclair's poll. Only a few votes were recorded for Darcy Communist, and Dempster.

Catholic Priests Ordered to Leave Mexico at Once

Education, Long Mooted Point Between State and Church; Results in Drastic Action; All Catholics Also Ordered Off Payrolls.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24.—Catholic priests will be ordered to leave every state in Mexico; it was decided today at an important conference at Tehacan, Puebla state, between President Abelardo Rodriguez, former President Plutarco Elias Calles, and President-elect Cardenas.

Every state government will order the priests to leave its borders, following the examples set by the states of Guerrero, Mexico, Chiapas, and Colima. Education is the crux of the argument, long-smoldering, between the Mexican governments and the Catholic church. The government accuses the church of fostering "seditious and rebellious" activities in its schools. In a further move against the Catholics, the government committee of public health ordered the dismissal of every confessed Catholic on its payrolls. Today's move at the Tehacan conference plainly placed the burden of ousting the priests upon the separate state governments, apparently meaning the priests still could seek haven in the federal district in which Mexico City is located, and in other federal territories.

FLOYD GOES HOME

EAST LIVERPOOL, Oct. 24.—Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd came out of the west to town and met death in Ohio, returned to his native Oklahoma today. The cold, lifeless form of the "Prince" of the underworld was placed in a wooden rough box and placed on a train here shortly before noon. It was expected to arrive at Sallisaw, Okla., where it would be claimed by his mother, Mrs. Walter Floyd, sometime Friday.

BRUNO'S TRIAL SET TO START ON JANUARY 2

Date Agreeable to Both Sides Though State Asked Nov. 14 Date

MAN DENIES GUILT

Holiday Disadvantage Is Evaded by Date Chosen

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 24.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, taciturn 35-year-old carpenter accused of murdering the Lindbergh baby, will be brought to trial on January 2nd.

Hauptmann was arraigned before Justice Thomas W. Trenchard in Hunterdon-co court this morning and in a clear voice marked by a thick German accent he pleaded "not guilty."

After hearing counsel for both sides Justice Trenchard set the date of trial.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz wanted to start the trial on November 14.

DATE AGREED ON

Defense counsel James M. Fawcett said he could not possibly be ready for trial sooner than December 11. After some discussion, Wilentz stated that the only suitable date for both sides would be Wednesday, January 2. And that date was satisfactory to the court. Wilentz pointed out that if December 11 was set for the opening of the trial, the case would run into the Christmas holidays which he thought would be a handicap on the jurors, the witnesses and others involved in the case.

Hauptmann provided the drama in the brief proceedings.

Attired in a gray suit, blue shirt and purple tie, the man who is charged with murdering little Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., entered the crowded courtroom at 11:30 a. m. surrounded by four New Jersey state troopers in their bright gray and blue uniforms.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, the prisoner's wife, came into the courtroom at 10:45 a. m. She was wearing a black fur-trimmed coat and small black hat.

The tiny courtroom was jammed. Men and women occupied every seat and there were some standing. The room was filled an hour before court was called to order. In the street, outside, a large crowd had assembled.

TROOPERS ON HAND

A dozen state troopers maintained order, in and outside the courtroom. Automobiles were not allowed to park within a block of the court house.

The crowd within the courtroom was so large that Sheriff John Curtiss put in emergency chairs in an area to the right of the Judge's bench.

MAN SUSPECTED AS GOODRICH IS HELD

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., Oct. 24.—Police today held Earl Parsons of Pennington Gap, Va., on a loitering charge while they studied similarities in his appearance with the description of Menton Ward Goodrich, wanted for the murder of Lillian Galarah in Detroit.

A woman resembling the description of Florence Goodrich, wife of the missing Detroit, left here following Parsons' arrest.

Parsons, the woman and another man came here Monday, representing themselves as members of a party of eight which was buying old gold in the eastern Kentucky mountains. The group had headquarters at Pikeville, they said.

The trio stayed at the Valley Inn hotel here Monday night but when Parsons was picked up by officers in the court house here late yesterday, his two companions disappeared. Parsons said they went back to Pikeville for the night but a check of hotels there failed to locate them.

Parsons had bad burns on his fingers, which he said resulted from testing old gold.

BARBERS' PRICE SCALE IN EFFECT

The Ohio Barbers' law which went into effect over the state Tuesday includes Pickaway-co and all prices set by the state code will be enforced.

The scale of prices agreed upon follows: hair cut, 40 cents; shave, 25 cents; shampoo, 50 cents; massage, 50 cents; hair tonic, 25 cents; neck clip, 25 cents.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS PLAN TO ORGANIZE

An effort will be made Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the court house to organize a Pickaway-co Democratic club for young people.
Ray Allison, assistant to George S. Myers, secretary of state, and an active organizer in the state Democratic headquarters will be present to help perfect the organization.
All young Democrats of the county who are interested are urged to attend the meeting.

BANDIT FLEES LANCASTER-PK 'GAS' STATION

Mrs. Milton Manson's Presence of Mind Frustrates Attempted Robbery

Quick thinking by Mrs. Milton Manson, Lancaster-pk, frustrated an attempted robbery of the service station operated by herself and her husband, Tuesday evening, when a lone youth armed with a revolver demanded the money in the station.

Mrs. Manson was alone at 9:50 when the youth entered and bought a soft drink. He then asked if Mrs. Manson had any

LIQUOR STORE ROBBED

FINDLAY, Oct. 24.—The first holdup of an Ohio liquor store was written into police records today as a hunt was launched for the cool-headed bandit who refused to allow the entrance of a woman customer to worry him.

When the woman entered, the bandit signed to Harry Frost, the store manager, to wait on her. All the while, he kept his gun trained on Frost. When the woman left, the bandit forced Frost to turn over the cash, $100, to him and left.

headlight bulbs and when she turned around to look he asked her, "How'd you like to turn over what money you've taken in today?" To which Mrs. Manson replied "I won't do it."

TURNED OFF LIGHTS

The bandit jerked a revolver from his pocket and while menacing her with the weapon ordered her to enter a room just off the front room. Mrs. Manson entered and immediately pulled a light switch which extinguished every light in the building. In a moment she heard the youth leave by the front door.

She called the sheriff's office and, although a search was made of all highways in the vicinity, the youth made a getaway. He was described as between 20 and 24 years of age, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall and weighing 140 pounds. He was also wearing a light cap. Mrs. Manson said whether he had accomplices is not certain. It is believed he escaped in a Ford coupe driving toward Lancaster.

FLASHED OVER STATE

A report of the attempted hold-up was flashed over the state highway patrol's network but no trace has been found of the bandit.

This morning a filling station robbery was reported in Zanesville by a youth of the same description as the one who tried to rob Mrs. Manson. A girl was reported with the Zanesville robber. All members of the sheriff's office and police department took part in the search for the Manson station bandit.

JUDGE'S SENTENCE UPHOLD BY COURT

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—The state supreme court today affirmed the judgment of Scioto-co court which found Municipal Judge Horace L. Small, Portsmouth, guilty on an intoxication charge and fined him $100.

He was convicted in common pleas court that common pleas judges have no original jurisdiction in intoxication cases and that he should have been tried in a justice of the peace or municipal court.

DAVIS IN COLLISION

Loring "Larry" Davis, this city, escaped injury early Wednesday when his Chevrolet coupe was struck by a Columbus auto while at Grant-ave and Town-st., Columbus.

Six persons in the car driven by Robert Beall, 377 1-2 E. Main-st., Columbus, were slightly hurt. Davis was returning to his car after spending the evening in Columbus when the accident happened. The front end of his automobile was damaged.

TWO AMERICAN AVIATORS LOST IN WILDS, FEAR

DUTCH IN SECOND

Turner in Thrilling Finish, Nearly Gains

MELBOURNE, Oct. 24.—Two swift and luxurious airplanes manufactured in the United States won second and third places in the London to Melbourne derby today as anxiety began to develop concerning the safety of the American team of John Wright and John Polando.

Far behind the leaders, Wright and Polando left Baghdad in the Lambourn monoplane at 5:10 a. m. E. S. T. yesterday, and more than 24 hours later, no word had been heard of them.

The route they planned to follow from Baghdad would take them over the mountains and deserts of Persia, inhabited only by semi-civilized tribes, and a forced landing anywhere on the course might keep them out of touch with the world for many hours.

TURNER CLOSE THIRD

The two American-built planes which roared into Melbourne today completed in a thrilling finish, with only two hours and 44 minutes separating them.

They nosed out of second place when they lagged in a forced landing for ten hours, 161 miles from their goal, E. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll of the Netherlands roared across the Flemington race course at 9:52 a. m. local time (7:52 p. m. E. S. T. Tuesday).

Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, defeated because they, too, were forced down midway between Charleville and Melbourne, took third money by finishing at 10:36 p. m. Tuesday E. S. T.

Trouble with their oil line at Charleville, after they had gained on the Dutch team in the long dash from Darwin, delayed the Americans again, and it was this difficulty that brought them down in the rain at Bourke, one hour 40 minutes out of Charleville.

TRAPPED IN MUD

They lost an hour, 20 minutes there. In the meantime, sending their three passengers on by rail, the Netherlands pair extricated their (Continued on Page Six)

COLUMBUS FACING LOSS OF PWA FUND

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—The withdrawal of all PWA funds from the $10,000,000 works project program in Columbus was feared here today following a letter to Mayor Henry Worley from Washington officials asking complete information on the city's financial situation.

From the tone of the letter, which was written by C. B. Shapard, city officials understood that unless they were enabled to finance the city's share in the projects more successfully, all PWA aid would be withdrawn and some 2,000 men thrown out of employment.

A deficiency bond issue for $746,400, up for approval of the voters in the coming election, was seen as a solution of the problem.

EMERGENCY SCHOOL MONEY IS ASSURED

Continuation of the emergency school program which is progressing nicely here was assured today when George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, received word from state headquarters that $1,598.50 has been appropriated to continue the school at least until February 1.

The money was appropriated to finance the school through September, October, November, December and January.

At present the school, located in Memorial Hall, has 44 pupils with J. O. Eagleson, as supervisor in charge.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

GEORGE COLVILLE HEADS STRONG TEAM

To a Circleville youth may go the honor of heading the strongest swimming team Ohio State has ever boasted—He is George Colville, who was elected captain of the conclusion of the last season.

In Peppe's first call for swimmers 30 reported and among this group were all the mainstays of the all-American frosh team of 1933-34 besides six lettermen—Colville is a breaststroker; other lettermen are Harry Volk, Cleveland; Homer Hagaman, Cleveland; Boyd Graham, Dayton; George Burrell, Akron, and Dick Pigley, Canton.

The mighty freshman team of last year provides the clever Baker Bryant, of Bexley; Jim Williams, Hamilton; Ray Kessler, Dayton; Dexter Woodford, Akron; Charles Salle, Cincinnati, and Russ Kirbert, also of that town.

THREE IN A ROW

Ohio State fans will have an opportunity of seeing three splendid football games, one after the other when Chicago, Michigan, and Iowa appear in the order named—The Buckeyes are away Saturday at Evanston against Northwestern, then go to Cleveland to meet Sam Willaman's Western Reserve outfit.

We had some word last week from Louie Bagen, who tried out for halfback on the high school football team his freshman year, which was last year—He is now enrolled at South high school, Columbus, where he is on the reserve squad—Rodney Ross, who is handling the reserves, says much is expected of the youth in his junior and senior years.

It might help some to quit calling these gun-toting kids "bad men" and sentence them to a public spanking.

BUCK INJURED SHOWING GAIN, SQUADS MATCH

Schmidt Expected To Have Full Strength Against Northwestern Outfit.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24.—Apparently evenly matched, a Scarlet team which has not developed as rapidly as was hoped and a purple eleven which is steadily advancing will clash at Evanston Saturday when Ohio State and Northwestern meet in their annual gridiron classic.

This will be the third Western Conference struggle for the Buckeyes. They have a 33 to 0 win over Indiana and a 13 to 14 defeat from Illinois on the record. Last Saturday Northwestern was idle while Ohio State was going through a bruising 10 to 7 victory over Colgate.

The condition of the Ohio eleven is worrying Coach Francis Schmidt more than anything else this week. Saturday he was forced to play Colgate with his star halfback, Dick Heekin, on the bench. Jack Smith, the other regular halfback, was allowed in the game only long enough to make the winning touchdown.

Added to the list of injured after the Colgate game were Stan Pincura, quarterback, John Bettridge, sub fullback, Frank Fisch, quarter and halfback, and Dick Beltz, another halfback. None of the boys is injured seriously, although the coach must give them two or three days of rest this week and will not be able to work them as hard as he had hoped.

Northwestern has an edge in scouting dope inasmuch as the purple have seen the Bucks in action in all three games. Schmidt's scouts have looked at the purple only twice as no one was sent to the coast when Northwestern played Stanford.

With the proper nursing, Schmidt may be able to throw his strongest team against Northwestern Saturday. If not his lineup will be a big question mark right up to the beginning whistle.

The new Ohio mentor has pretty well made up his mind on the personnel of the line with Rees and Wendt at ends; Harre and Hamrick at tackles; Monahan and Inwood Smith at guards; and Comer Jones at center. It's the back field that is putting more gray hairs in Schmidt's head.

BOBCATS PREPARE FOR MARSHALL 11

ATHENS, Oct. 24.—Having come out of the knock 'em down and drag 'em out affair with Miami in pretty fair condition the Ohio University Bobcats are pointing to the Dad's Day game with Marshall this Saturday when the Big Green team invades Ohio stadium.

Marshall surprised a fine Ohio team and everyone else last year by holding the Bobcats to a 0-0 deadlock at Fairfield Stadium in the first game played between the two schools since 1920. That year Ohio won 55-0. Ohio also won in 1915, 21-7, and the first game played between Ohio and Marshall in 1911 ended 5-5.

WILLS STILL HURT
Though several of the Bobcats are still tied to the bench with injuries, the squad is in as good shape as it has been at any other time this season. Wills is out again, and the condition of DeStefano's leg is not very encouraging, but the remainder of the squad is ready to meet Captain Zontini and his Big Green colleagues.

Marshall has never defeated an Ohio team and it will be the West Virginians' biggest chance. Ohio has not been playing up to the true Ohio standard and has not defeated a major opponent this year. The Bobcats fell before Indiana, and last Saturday gave way to Miami in the last minute of play after a blocked kick.

TEAM BELOW PAR
Those two defeats have put the Bobcat in a very bad position. Another loss and it will be the worst Ohio season in several autumns, and the year was forecast as one of the best. It means that from now on you can expect a Bobcat that will be fighting with its back to the wall, and that is where the Bobcat is most dangerous.

Richetti was taken to the Wells-ville police station Sunday after the federal men admitted defeat in the case, and was charged with carrying concealed weapons and with shooting with intent to kill.

He pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charges and was fined $75 and costs by Mayor William H. Daugherty, of Wellsville. He was held to the Columbus grand jury under bond of $50,000 on the shooting with intent to kill charge.

Yesterday J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the crime bureau of the department of justice at Washington, bitternly attacked the federal officials for their failure to aid the government in the Richetti case.

Last night, Inspector Cowley virtually repeated his chief's charges and criticism. He declared it was the greatest set-back the government has had since its crime campaign was initiated following the Lindbergh kidnapping.

JEALOUSY OF PURVIS

He said that he tried for 48 hours to persuade Wellsville officials to turn Richetti over to the government and said that they refused, "evidently because of jealousy" of Melvin H. Purvis, the federal manhunter, who led in the killing of John Dillinger and the slaying of Floyd near here.

LABOR TO SUPPORT MUSKINGUM PROJECT

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today had heartily endorsed the $35,000,000 Muskingum conservancy project as "a rare opportunity for the people in the area to secure flood protection and to create work opportunities for hundreds of idle people."

"In my opinion it is a sound project, both from an economic and conservancy point of view," Green declared on a recent visit to his home in Coshocton during an interview with a conservancy district official. "The benefits secured will be far in excess to the cost."

Discovery of Newfoundland

Although the Icelandic sagas relate that Lie Erlanson and his crew discovered Newfoundland about 1000 A. D., the first authentic discovery is accredited to John Cabot. In 1497, Cabot, a Genoese navigator, obtained a charter from King Henry VII of England to seek new territory in the New World which Columbus had discovered five years earlier. Cabot reached a port in the "New Founde Land" on the feast day of St. John, and the name of St. John was given to the principal harbor.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

Monitors in grade 4 this week are: Aretha Gray, Isabelle Hallam, Billy Cain and Ellis Cline.

On Friday we made Halloween pumpkins, owls, cats and false faces to decorate our room.

Mrs. Tosca was a visitor in grade four on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

Betty Mae Hunt was absent three days last week due to illness.

Mrs. R. S. Hosler substituted for Miss Plum on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Our seniors are now discussing the advisability of publishing an annual this year.

The eighth grade plans to make an exhibit of native woods and flowers and weed seeds during this six weeks period. Materials are to be collected by the pupils and mounted at school.

Gretchen and Richard Hedges entertained their Junior classmates at their country home south of South Bloomfield last Friday evening. Mrs. Cooper and Supt. Higley were the faculty guests present. The entertainment and refreshments furnished were highly enjoyed by all.

Those teachers and pupils connected with the play, "In The Money" which is being sponsored by the P. T. A., are more than busy these days getting ready for the event on Nov. 1 and 2.

Last Friday, October 19th, round Asheville playing host to the Jackson and Monroe basketball team.

The Junior and Seniors pitted their strength against the Jackson-twp lads and won handsily by a score of 32-6. The Freshman and Sophomores found the going rather rough but finally won by a very close score of 11-13.

This week Asheville travels to Hamilton on Wednesday night and then plays Dublin at Asheville on Thursday night. The game at Asheville will start promptly at 3:30.

of Ohio open and I will guarantee to keep the towns and cities and counties functioning. We will just let the bond holders wait a little while for the principal."

Mr. Davey urged the election of every person on the Democratic ticket speaking a good word for Vic Donahey and for Mell G. Underwood.

"Two weeks from tonight," the speaker stated, "you will be hearing elections. When they are all counted Vic Donahey will be elected over Dr. Fess by half a million votes and I will not be far behind."

GREETED BY TORCHES

The nominee, who was brought here from Chillicothe by a police escort and greeted outside the city by a "torch light" procession, was escorted to Columbus after his address by Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

In addition to Mr. Davey, the audience heard Joseph T. Ferguson, candidate for state treasurer, and Dennis Dunleavy, representing Vic Donahey.

Mell G. Underwood, New Lexington congressman, who spoke on the same platform with Davey in Chillicothe, arrived just before Mr. Davey had concluded his talk. He spoke for a short time on the issues of the campaign and called attention to Renick W. Dunlap being a registered voter of Franklin and that he had not cast a ballot in this district until after he announced his candidacy earlier in the year.

"Certainly there are plenty of eligible and qualified Republicans in the district, who have the necessary qualifications to serve this district in congress without importing a gentleman like Dunlap from Columbus to make the race," he said.

EASTERN STAR HAS MEETING TUESDAY

About fifty members enjoyed the bimonthly meeting of the Circleville Chapter Order of the Eastern Star Tuesday evening.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, a past matron, was acting worthy matron in the absence of Mrs. Leslie May, who is attending Grand chapter in Cleveland. Mrs. George Bentley acted as associate matron for Mrs. E. I. Gephart, who is also attending Grand chapter.

Following the business thirteen past worthy matrons and two past patrons were introduced as the honor guests of the evening.

A program was then presented including two dance numbers by Viola Mae Alkire, who was accompanied at the piano by Eleanor Vandervort. The latter also accompanied a violin solo played by her sister Evelyn Pierce.

Miss Mary May Haswell in her pleasing manner sang two selections with Mrs. George Bentley at the piano.

Patty Bennett, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Carl Bennett, entertained with two musical readings.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session with Miss Virginia Marion, Mrs. G. H. Adkins and Mrs. Robert Denman as the committee in charge.

GROUP ENJOYS PARTY IN COLUMBUS TUESDAY

Miss Anna Merz, of Columbus, delightfully entertained the members of her former bridge club of this city and several additional guests at her home, Tuesday evening.

Bridge was enjoyed at two tables during the pleasant evening and prizes were awarded Mrs. Mary Morris, Miss Margaret Crist and Mrs. Lena Thatcher.

A delicious lunch was served at the small tables late in the evening.

Guests were Miss Helen Rowe, Mrs. Lena Thatcher, Miss Mary Ebert, Miss Katherine Weller, Mrs. Erma Gehres, Misses Martha and Margaret Crist, Misses Nell and Minnie Mason, Mrs. Mary Morris and Miss Magdalene Trump, this city.

DINNER CLUB MEETS AT BOGGS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. John Boggs, W. Union-st., were hosts Tuesday evening when they entertained the members of their dinner club at their home.

The dinner at 6:30 o'clock was followed by an enjoyable evening bridge.

Covers at the dinner were laid by Mr. and Mrs. George P. Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Tom Harmon and the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore, S. Court-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

MRS. WHITE WILL BE HONORED AT PARTIES

The first of a number of parties being planned for Mrs. Don White (Ann Hathaway), whose marriage was recently announced, and who will reside in this city after Nov. 1, was a dinner-bridge Monday evening given by Miss Dorothy Gartner of Chillicothe.

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock she will be honor guest at a dinner bridge at Moore's Platinum Grill given by Phi Beta Psi.

Thursday afternoon she will share honors with Miss Peggy Courtright bride-elect of John D. Blosser of Chillicothe, at a bridge tea to be given by Miss Ann Bennett, S. Court-st.

Mrs. Henry Breth of Carlisle Hill, Chillicothe, will be hostess at a buffet supper, Tuesday evening, Oct. 30, complimenting Mrs. White and Wednesday, Oct. 31, Mrs. Howard Goldsberry, Chillicothe, will entertain with a dinner party.

Two other parties are being arranged but the dates have not been definitely decided. They are a bridge luncheon at which Mrs. Dave Towell will be hostess and a bridge tea to be given by Miss Dorothy Dunlap, both of Chillicothe.

GROUP HONORS LOIS NEFF ON BIRTHDAY

As a pleasant surprise to Miss Lois Neff, of Stoutsville, on her birthday anniversary a group of friends gathered at her home Monday evening for dinner and bridge. The affair also celebrated the birthday of Miss Katherine Kirkpatrick.

Dinner was followed by bridge and at the conclusion of play high score award went to Miss Myriam Hitchcock. Miss Neff and Miss Kirkpatrick were presented lovely gifts from the group.

Enjoying the evening were Miss Pauline Thomas and Miss Martha Neff of Stoutsville, Mrs. Myra Rader, Miss Mary Ellen Phillips, Miss Myriam Hitchcock, Miss Virginia Nelson, Miss Alice Briggs, Miss Kirkpatrick, this city, and Miss Neff.

DINNER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, E. Mount-st., entertained a group of friends at a dinner party, Tuesday evening, at her home honoring Mr. Carpenter on his birthday anniversary.

Covers at the attractively appointed table lighted with yellow tapers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Speakman, Miss Virginia Given, Miss Helen Crist, Charles Goeller, Hillard Gehres, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter and son, James.

Bridge was enjoyed after the dinner.

MRS. LAMB ENTERTAINS BRIDGE CLUB MEMBERS

Mrs. Sterling Lamb, S. Court-st., entertained the members of her bridge club at her home, Tuesday evening.

Two tables of contract bridge were in play and when scores were counted Mrs. Joseph Burns was found winner of the trophy. Miss Hazel Palm was a substituting guest.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The club will meet next week with Miss Thelma O'Hara, S. Scioto-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson F. Cellar, Montclair ave., have returned from a ten days' motor trip to Chattanooga, Gatlinburg and Knoxville, Tenn.

Enrich with Milk

Milk dishes have long been recognized as a great source of required nourishment, and the newly introduced vitamin treated, canned milk is a food product worthy of recognition. Fresh milk may always be substituted in recipes calling for diluted canned milk, and the same richness can be produced when the recipe calls for unthinned canned milk, by using cream or milk with a small amount of butter. The butter is suggested here simply as a flavor increasing agent.

A full flavored soup, and one that is attractive to serve, is cream of pimiento. Make it like this:

Cream of Pimiento Soup

- 3 C. water
- 4 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. chopped onion
- 4 pimientos, pressed through a sieve
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 2 Tbsp. water
- 2 C. canned milk
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper

Dissolve bouillon cubes in 3 C. boiling water, add chopped onion and pimientos. Blend flour and water for thickening, and add to soup mixture. Cook for 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add milk and seasonings. Heat thoroughly and serve at once.

Potato flour or left over mashed potatoes have long been used as a starch flavor of great popularity. Potato pancakes for breakfast or supper make a filling and uncommon dish.

Potato Pancakes

- 1 C. bread flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 C. left over mashed potatoes
- 2 well beaten eggs
- 3/4 C. milk (canned)
- 3/4 C. water or 1 1/4 C. whole milk
- 2 Tbsp. hot fat

Sift flour before measuring, and resift it with baking powder added. Mix together mashed potatoes and eggs and add flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat with a rotary egg beater to blend thoroughly. Bake on a hot griddle until brown, or fry in hot fat. This recipe makes two dozen pancakes.

Sauce for Asparagus and Broccoli

Scald 1/4 C. canned milk in the top of a double boiler. Pour into a small bowl and chill until icy cold before whipping. Put 3 Tbsp. soft butter and 2 unbeaten egg yolks in the top of a double boiler. Add 2 Tbsp. lemon juice, 1/4 C. water and 1/2 tsp. salt. Cook for 3 minutes, beating constantly with a rotary egg beater. Chill thoroughly. Whip chilled milk vigorously until stiff. Fold into cold egg mixture. Sauce serves six.

IMPRESSIVE PROGRAM OF EVENTS SUNDAY AT LEGION MEETING

JACKSON, Oct. 24.—With the announcement today of the complete program of events, all plans for the coming Eighth District American Legion Conference in Jackson on October 28th were brought to completion.

On that day Jackson will be the center of attention for all Legionnaires throughout southern Ohio, with indications pointing to a record attendance from every county in this area.

Although the entire day will be taken up with various events, the feature of the conference will be the drum corps competition in the evening, a total of 16 corps having already officially entered that contest to vie for the $500 in prize money.

Corps will compete from Dover, Nelsonville, Murray City, Ironton, Gallipolis, Portsmouth, Parkersburg, Athens, Bremen, Wellston, Jackson, Chillicothe, the Chillicothe Boy Scouts, Pomeroy, Norwood and Dayton. A band competition will also be held with entries from Jackson, Ashland, Ky., and the Soldiers and Sailors home in Dayton.

The drum corps prizes will be from $250 down; the afternoon parade prize will be $25 and the band prize will be $25. The district post, now held by the Wellston Post, will be awarded the winner of the drum corps competition.

Following the parade, which will be 18 blocks long, the drum corps

DEATH SONG

by JOAN CLAYTON AND MALCOLM LOGAN

CHAPTER XXVI

On the same day that I went to Echoville, Seifert Vail was buried in a New York City from a pretentious funeral chapel. His sister, who had called instructions for the disposition of his body, had arrived from Bermuda in time to attend the services. The newspapers next morning described the scene. A few friends had been admitted, and so had gathered outside that the police had to disperse them. Only Anne Vail and two others had accompanied the singer's body to the cemetery in Queens.

I was in the lobby after breakfast the next day when the sanatorium car which met all trains at Cold Valley brought a visitor—a tall, middle-aged woman with iron-gray hair and a big-boned body. As she stepped at the desk, I recognized her from a picture in the Times as the singer's sister.

"I want to see the manager, please," she said in a deep, authoritative voice.

I looked at her with interest in the moment she stood there, before the operator directed her to Anderson's office down the hall. She wore flat-heeled shoes, a well-tailored tweed suit which must have been very warm that day, and a plain black straw hat. She resembled her brother slightly, but I liked her appearance much more than his. Her features were good, though somewhat masculine, and there was an air about her of a woman who knew her own mind very well.

When she had left, I carried the news of her arrival to Mark. I found him being reprimanded by Sue, who had, it seemed, experienced some trouble with him that morning when he was having his diathermy treatment.

"Men are terrible patients," she said. "Fussy as children!" "Nurses are hopeless sentimentalists," Mark retorted. "Contrary to all our knowledge of human behavior they expect invalids to be more reasonable than well people."

"I don't expect that much," she answered. "But I do expect them to help us when they come here to be cured."

"Stop fighting," I said. Sue looked at me and smiled. "I wasn't thinking so much of Mr. Hillier," she said. "I'm used to his tantrums." Mark made a ferocious face at her. "But you would think a man as sensible as Mr. Rudon would take care of himself. He had to go to dinner with Arrowhead, and do you know, he caught a cold the other day and tried to conceal it so he could go to work. He had an examination yesterday and of course they discovered it."

"Those summer colds are hard to shake off," I said. "How did he get it?"

"Sleeping under an electric fan," Sue answered. "Well, that's very interesting," I remarked, "but I've got more important news. I turned to Mark. 'Anne Vail is here. She came up on my morning train.'"

Mark sat up. "She is? Bob, I've got to see her!" "I thought you'd want to. How are you going to manage it?" "You've got to do it for me, Bob. Where is she now?"

"In Anderson's office."

"Well, go out and watch the door until she comes out, and then ask her to come to see me. Tell her it's about her brother, and it's very important."

I did not relish the commission, but it did not occur to me to refuse Mark, knowing how badly he wanted to talk to her. So I went after the door of Anderson's office until she came out. I stepped into the corridor to meet her and said, "Miss Vail?"

Her quick gray eyes were as candid and direct as a man's.

"Yes," she said.

"My name is Fowler. I said, 'I am a friend of Mark Hillier. One of the patients here. He would like very much to see you for a few minutes about an important matter concerning your brother.'"

"Hillier?" she repeated. "Oh, yes, the actor. I remember seeing him. The King of High Jinks. That was years ago." She paused and considered. "Why is he interested in my brother?"

"There was a certain hardness in her voice as she spoke of the dead man, and I wondered if he had antagonized her, too."

"Mark has been helping the sheriff to a certain extent, in his investigation," I said, with some embarrassment. "He thought you might be able to assist in it."

"You may tell him," she said. "That I have no interest in the investigation, and I could tell him nothing that would help him if I wanted to."

"I'm sorry," I said. I turned away. Her voice halted me.

"One minute, please. Why is he doing this?"

I looked at her for a moment and decided that honesty would be the best policy in this case.

"Life here is very monotonous. Miss Vail, particularly for a man who was as active, physically and mentally, as Mark. To be quite frank with you, Mark is more interested in matching wits with the man who killed your brother than in bringing him to justice. It's a sort of challenge to him, and I hardly think anything can make him stop his investigation."

Miss Vail considered. "In that case, I'll speak to him myself. Where is he?"

I led her, in silence, into the hospital and into Mark's room. Miss Vail did not wait for an introduction. She said:

"Mr. Hillier? I am Anne Vail. Mark was his most magnetic self. He had a faculty for finding instantly and unerringly the proper approach to every stranger. He treated Seifert Vail's sister as a comradely cordiality."

"It's kind of you to come to see me," he said. "Unfortunately, I can't go visiting myself."

I said, "If you'll excuse me," and started to leave. Miss Vail stopped me.

"Don't go," she said. "I haven't anything to say that I wouldn't want you to hear."

She sat down and I took another chair. In the subsequent conversation I was ignored, and I was content to sit and listen.

"Mr. Fowler," she began, "tells me that you are trying to find out who killed my brother. He tells me it isn't because you have any passion for justice, but because you want to prove you're cleverer than the murderer."

Mark nodded and said cheerfully, "Perfectly right, Miss Vail."

"You're not satisfied, then, that the gardener who committed suicide murdered my brother?"

"No, I'm not, Miss Vail. On the contrary, it seems highly improbable."

Anne Vail's heavy black eyebrows drew together in a frown.

"I suppose you have good reasons for that belief," she said.

"Excellent ones," Mark said. "In the first place—"

"I'm not interested in hearing them," she interrupted. "You have no particular interest in seeing the guilty person punished, have you?"

"No, none."

The dead singer's sister leaned toward him. She put all the force of her strong personality into her next words.

"Then please discontinue your investigation," she said.

Mark's arched eyebrows betrayed his astonishment. He cocked his head on one side and looked at Miss Vail steadily for a minute.

"You must admit that's a rather strange request," he said.

The woman nodded her iron-gray head in assent. "It is. Nevertheless, I repeat it. I am not interested in punishing Seifert's murderer. If you will consider my wishes, you will drop your investigation."

Mark hesitated again. "Would it be asking too much," he said, "to inquire why you have no interest in finding the person who killed your brother?"

"Did you know him?" Anne Vail asked abruptly.

"I met him only once."

"But undoubtedly you have heard enough about him to know what sort of person he was."

"I don't like to judge by gossip, Miss Vail, but concerning your brother, all reports indicated that he was an egotistic, embittered, unpleasant person."

"That's true," his sister said. "Years ago Seifert and I ceased to have any contact with each other. I considered him a thoroughly mischievous person. He wanted to dominate everyone around him."

She smiled slightly. "You may understand that I refused to be dominated by him. Whenever that happened to Seifert, he became an implacable enemy, and a mean one. I simply severed our relationship entirely."

"That seems to place him in a somewhat different light," Mark said meditatively. "We at Sherwood Forest knew him only after the death of his wife, and we believed that he became the kind of man he was because she died and because he lost his voice afterwards."

"His wife's death only emphasized his unpleasant traits," she replied. "I do not believe they brought each other much happiness, for Seifert was inordinately jealous, as you would expect so egotistical a man to be. Even if she had lived, I am certain he would have remained a man who hated those who resisted his domineering and who envied persons who were happy."

"Did you see him after his wife died?" Mark asked. "What was about two years ago, wasn't it?"

She nodded. "It was in August—the twenty-fifth of August, two years ago. I saw Seifert once after that when he was trying to console himself with liquor. Persons who knew him better said he hated women after Francis died."

"Yet a woman visited him on the day he was killed," Mark said musingly. "She came from New York and drove to the sanatorium, arriving just at the end of the rest period. She went into his room, turned on the phonograph and then, apparently discovering he had been murdered, she left. Have you any idea who she might be? Not one woman had visited him before, during the entire time he was here."

Anne Vail rose. "No, Mr. Hillier. I have no idea who she was. Are you going to do as I ask?"

Mark answered very slowly. "Miss Vail, if this concerned only your brother, I would. He smiled ruefully. "It would be more of a sacrifice than you may believe. It would mean the loss of the only interest I have found here. But I want you to believe I would do it if it were one single, isolated crime."

"You mean the gardener?" she asked.

"Yes. If the gardener did not kill your brother or meet with an accident, he was murdered also. There seems no possible connection between the two crimes, but there may be one that only the murderer knows. The gardener was a poor, stupid fellow. He may have had some information that meant nothing to him but everything to the man who killed your brother. Miss Vail, I believe Joe Barker was murdered, and if that is true, I can't stop. No one is safe with a killer at large in the sanatorium."

Anne Vail obviously never wasted time or emotion. She recognized Mark's determination and accepted defeat.

"I understand," she said, "and I withdraw my request. I sincerely hope the death of this gardener will be the end."

"I hope so, but I'm far from certain," Mark replied.

Miss Vail abruptly extended her hand to him. Mark took it in his and smiled warmly at her.

"It was very kind of you to come, as you asked."

"I understand your refusal," she said. "Goodbye, Mr. Hillier. I hope you will be well soon."

"Just one question, please. What significance did your brother's record of 'Waiting For You' have for him?"

"I will answer that," she said, "because it cannot be of any importance. Don't expect me to give you any assistance, Mr. Hillier. Seifert made that record for his wife shortly after their marriage and she accompanied him when it was made. I believe her taste in music ran to such things. Goodbye."

She opened the door and strode out into the hall. Half an hour later, after giving her brother's phonograph to the sanatorium and refusing all his personal effects, she left Sherwood Forest.

When she had gone, Mark sighed deeply and lit a cigarette. "A strange request from a sister, wasn't it?" he said. "I wonder if she's hiding any family skeletons."

"That was a noble oration about Joe," I said, "but I doubt that it was your real reason for refusing to quit."

"Who knows?" Mark said. "I don't. I couldn't tell you how much truth there is in it and how much rationalization." He grinned. "Anyway, I'm still on the job, and with a little more information."

"It didn't seem to me your attempts to pump her were very successful."

"That's because you don't ever hear what people say in front of you," Mark said. "Vail's sister hasn't any idea how helpful she was."

He seemed disinclined to explain, and I tried to prod him.

"That record's a blind alley," I said. "Clendening copied the words. He thought there was some secret significance in them."

"A message in code, I suppose," Mark said scornfully. "No, it's not quite as obvious as that, but it did mean something. It was the theme song of Vail's marriage. He must have been infatuated to let as poor a pianist as his wife accompany him."

Neglect of Earache Is Mistake

This Painful Symptom May Be First Sign of Serious Trouble

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

AMONG OUR complicated and sensitive organs, the ear is one of the most important. Like the rest of the body, it is subject to irritation, inflammation, infection and other disturbances. Negligence in the care even of minor disturbances of the ear is a serious mistake. Many persons suffering from impaired hearing, or complete and permanent deafness, can trace this misfortune to oversight of some simple affliction.

Unfortunately the sufferer from earache usually accepts this discomfort as something painful but not dangerous. He fails to realize that earache may be the first sign of some serious disorder of the ear.

When recognized in their early stages, most disturbances of this organ respond to carefully prescribed treatment. It is only when the underlying cause is overlooked that serious damage is likely to be done to the delicate mechanism of the ear.

Foreign Body in Ear

Of all possible disturbances of the ear in childhood, to have a foreign body in the canal is one of the most common accidents. This is the experience of certain youngsters who cannot resist the temptation to place objects in the mouth, nose or ear.

Often a child will hide what he has done and the parents are unaware of the trouble until some time has passed. Such a round object as a pea, bean, bead, tiny stone, or piece of chalk, may easily enter the ear canal. If permitted to remain for a long time inflammation may result with damage to the hearing.

A medical journal recently told of a case in which an insect was found in the ear of an adult. Unknown to the patient, the insect had remained in the ear for many years. The sufferer finally consulted a physician because of impaired hearing. Personally, I have seen such cases, but it is unusual for the victim to be unaware of the entrance of an insect into the canal of the ear.

Of course, the foreign body should not be permitted to remain in the ear. But extreme care must be exercised in its removal. A physician should always be consulted, because he is equipped with the necessary instruments to remove any foreign body without injury to the delicate tissues.

Accumulation of Wax

An accumulation of wax in the ear is an annoying condition. When the wax becomes hard and impacted it acts exactly like a foreign body. It is dangerous for a layman to pick at the ear or attempt to remove impacted wax. When it is hardened and is obstructing the ear passage, it is best removed by means of irrigation with boric acid. For this purpose there is a special ear syringe.

My advice is never to resort to home measures or self-medication in the treatment of any affliction of the ear. Bear in mind that the ear is a delicate structure. It easily becomes inflamed and without proper care may be permanently injured. Expert medical attention is required if serious disorders of the ear are to be prevented or overcome.

profit, now on deposit with the Federal Reserve Bank, brings these Federal Reserve Banks into the New Central Bank.

Using this $2,800,000,000 as a base, the Central Bank issues new currency. If, instead, the Treasury issued this new currency it could issue only up to $2,800,000,000. For Treasury notes must have a backing of 100 per cent.

And that is the big motive behind the Central Bank. It would not need a 100 per cent note coverage. Coverage for Federal Reserve notes is 40 per cent. So with the Federal Reserve, the gold net of $2,800,000,000 become $7,000,000,000 in paper money.

Thus Government bills are paid. It sounds like financial ledger-main, and to a certain extent it is. That is one reason Young Henry Morgenthau—despite his expertises away from it. So also does the President. Both would rather stick to the good old-fashioned method of raising money by borrowing from the bankers.

Wiry Frank R. McNinch, resolute Chairman of the Federal Power Commission, is being put forward by liberals in North Carolina, as a Democratic candidate in 1936 against Senator Josiah Bailey, conservative Democratic incumbent.

Clyde L. Seavey, latest addition to the Federal Power commission, was a member of Senator Hiram Johnson's cabinet when the latter was Governor of California. Johnson made Seavey chairman of the State Tax Commission over the vehement opposition of public utility and railroad interests.

Herbert J. Drane, another Roosevelt appointee on the FPC, was a close personal friend of Woodrow Wilson.

Drane, a veteran of 16 years service in the House, worked as a boy in Kentucky on the famous weekly newspaper, edited by Onie Reed.

Commissioner Basil Herman, an intimate friend of elder Senator Robert M. La Follette, was associated with him for many years.

During La Follette's independent Presidential race in 1924, Drane toured the country with him, filling much the same role that Professor Raymond Moley did in the Roosevelt campaign of 1932.

Claude L. Draper, appointed to the Commission by Hoover in 1930, was born and reared on a Wyoming ranch, punched cattle before he struck out in the business field.

Right now the FPC is a victim of overcrowding in Government buildings.

DELICATE INSTRUMENTS TO DETERMINE PICCARDS' SUCCESS

Woman Thrilled; Land Near Cadiz

CADIZ, O., Oct. 24.—Intricate instruments carried by Prof. and Mrs. Jean Piccard in their gondola approximately 10 miles above the earth today held the secret of either their success or failure to achieve the aim of their stratosphere flight.

They sought a solution to science's latest riddle—the nature and origin of that mysterious form of energy known as the cosmic rays. Both the professor and his wife, a mother of three young sons who was "thrilled" by her first stratosphere adventure, proclaimed the flight a success.

PROFESSOR LIMPID

Mrs. Piccard was not hurt in the landing but the professor suffered a slight injury to his ankle. He limped slightly but it was believed the injury was only of a minor nature.

After seven hours and 10 minutes of floating through clouds, and above clouds far beyond the sight of an anxious, interested world below, Professor and Mrs. Piccard brought the huge gondola to a safe, gentle landing in a small woods four miles west of here.

"I made a rotten landing," said the youthful looking wife of the tall, slender scientist who is a brother of the famous Auguste Piccard.

"I feel certain the adventure was a success," observed the man whose long, grizzled hair was ruffled by an autumn breeze. "All conditions were favorable. The only thing I regret is the loss of the bag."

The professor referred to the gas bag which caught in a tree and was ripped when the balloon dropped into the picturesque woods.

"Everything went nicely," commented Mrs. Piccard who remained calm and quiet obviously unperturbed by the attention she received from the crowds of curious and souvenir seekers.

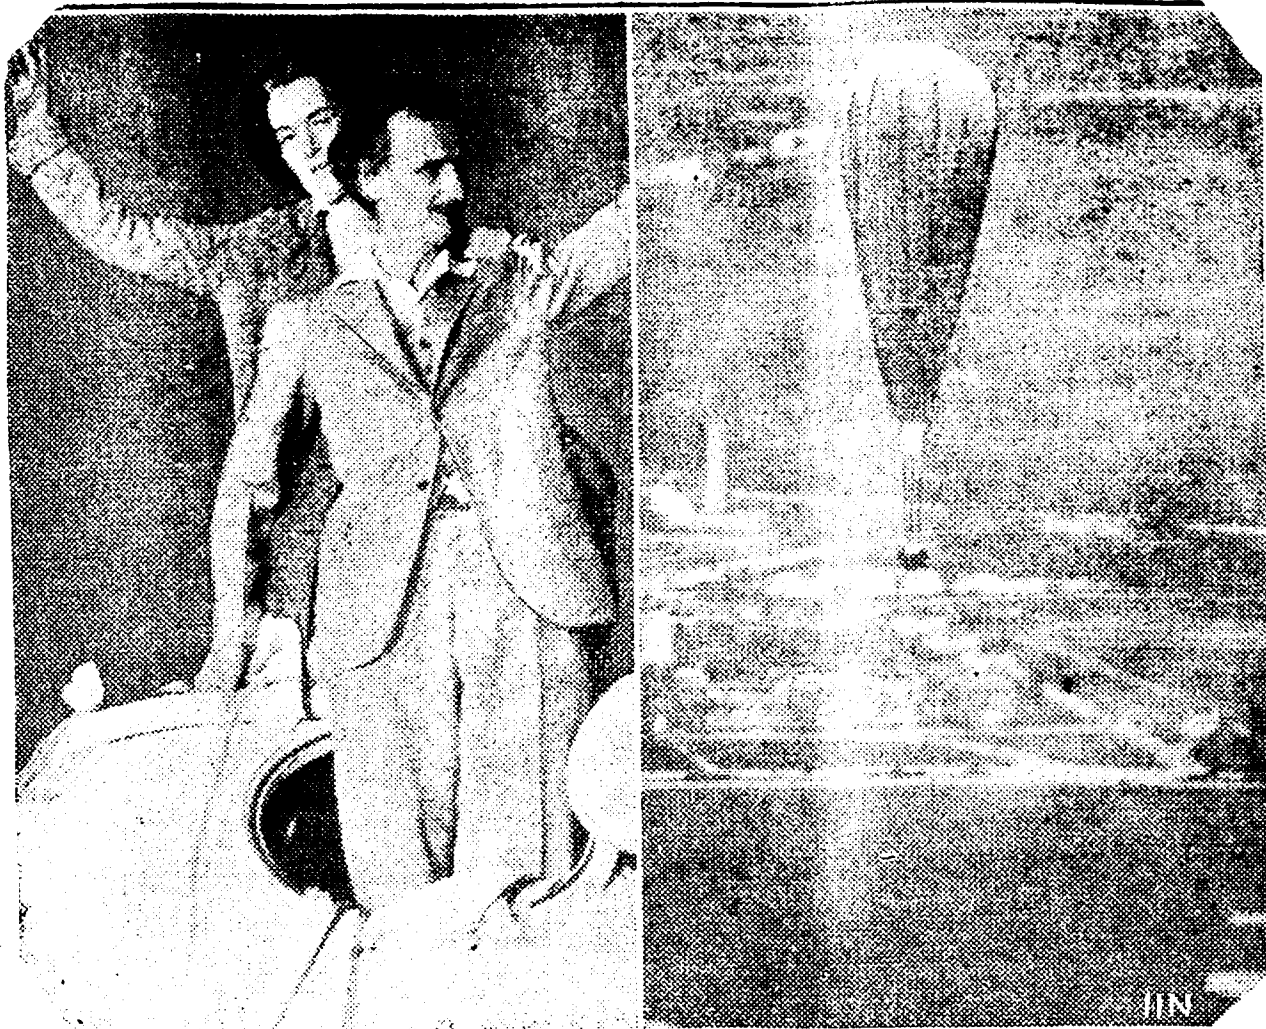

BAD LOW CEILING

Questioned about her experiences and whether either she or her husband was excited at any time during the flight, Mrs. Piccard replied: "We were not nervous or excited but were anxious because it was a very low ceiling. Clouds are always lovely. First we went through clear atmosphere and then we struck the clouds. It was like a thick fog. It was lovely when we first got above them. They formed a solid carpet of white below us and they retained this distinct color during the time we were above them."

The flight was so interesting to the first woman who ever penetrated the stratosphere that she would go again "if I get a chance." But the Piccards have

As Piccards Took Off on Stratosphere Flight

Headed for the stratosphere to study the mysterious cosmic rays, Professor Jean Piccard, brother of the famous Belgian stratospherist, Auguste Piccard, and his wife, Jeanette, are pictured, left, standing on their gondola as they departed from the Ford air port at Dearborn, Mich. made no plans and think it entirely too early to discuss the possibility of another flight. They are satisfied with the recent achievement although a new altitude record was not set.

Taken from the gondola and sealed, the barograph must be sent to the National Aeronautical association at Washington before the altitude can be definitely established. Both, however, estimated it was about 10 miles or approximately 53,000 feet.

Apparatus used in taking pictures in the study of the cosmic rays was unharmed in the landing. It will be sent to Dr. W. F. G. Swann at Swarthmore college and to Dr. Robert Milliken at Pasadena, California, for study.

"It will take weeks of intensive study and correlation before any definite conclusion is reached on the results of our flight," the smiling woman who piloted the balloon while her husband operated the delicate instruments said. "We really can't say any more on it now."

DARBY SCHOOL NOTES

The boys defeated the Muhlenberg baseball team on the home diamond, 4-0. This being the last game of the season, speed ball will occupy the boys time. This will be followed soon by basketball.

Our basketball schedule follows: Dec. 7—Pickaway—there (tentative).

Dec. 14—New Holland—there.

Dec. 21—Pickaway—home.

Jan. 11—Deercreek—there.

Jan. 18—Monroe—home.

Jan. 25—Ashville—there.

Feb. 1—Washington—there.

Feb. 8—Jackson—there.

The second issue of the "Darby-Center" came out last week. If any wishes to subscribe for it, he should see the manager, Wendell Wardell. Our subscription list now consists of about eighty subscribers.

The honor roll for the first six weeks follows:

lightened machine from the mud and sped on to Melbourne.

Sir MacPherson Robertson, donor of the $75,000 in prizes, was overjoyed at the feat of the two American commercial machines. In an interview, he said that he was glad that a British machine had won, but "I consider that the Dutch and American planes achieved what I had in mind."

"I had not thought of a mad rush across the world. I wanted to test the possibilities of better transport."

Parmentier and Moll may have to be content with the $7,500 prize for second in the speed trial.

Turner and Pangborn were entered only in the speed event.

The result of the handicap race will not be known until November 5. All the planes entered were allowed 16 days to finish the course. They will be permitted, within that limit, to remain as long as they want at checking stations, only their actual flying time being considered.

OTHERS IN AUSTRALIA

One other machine, bearing Lieut. Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller of Britain, had reached Australia. They arrived at Darwin at 10:15 p. m., E. S. T., Tuesday, and took off for Charleville at 11:46 p. m., E. S. T., Tuesday.

Squadron Leader Malcolm McGregor and Henry Walker of New Zealand left Singapore to fly over the Dutch East Indies at 2:45 a. m., E. S. T.

J. D. Hewitt and C. E. Kay were close behind their New Zealand countrymen. They were sighted at 2:10 a. m., E. S. T., flying from Akyab, Burma, to Bangkok, Siam.

Squadron Leader D. E. Stodart and R. G. Stodart of Britain arrived at Calcutta at 3:54 a. m., E. S. T.

Charles Melrose of Australia arrived at Jodhpur at 1:11 a. m., E. S. T.

Scott and Black were certain of the $50,000 first award, and there was a slight possibility that they might also take the $10,000 first prize in the handicap race, if officials will permit one machine to win in both divisions.

The fact that the Dutch team sent their passengers on into Melbourne by train, and lost 10 hours at Albany, which was not a checking point, may cost them the first handicap prize.

Both sexes have their woes. An athlete is sunk, too, if his legs aren't good.

SALT CREEK-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

SCHOOL FAIR

Approximately 1,700 to 2,000 people visited the Saltcreek-twp school building on Friday, Oct. 19, the day of the school fair. The agriculture class under the efficient leadership of Principal H. A. Strous sponsored the project. The class organized the departments, made the posters and signs, prize and entry tickets, solicited for contributions, and arranged the tables and space needed by each department.

The total number of entries was 1,450. Seventy-five families in the grades and high school made entries.

The judges of baked goods, fancy work were Mrs. Huddle, canned fruits and vegetables, and Miss Dillon, and Mrs. Kefauver of Stoutsville.

Mr. Bradley of Pickaway and W. R. Sunderland of Centralia school judged grains, fresh fruits and vegetables, livestock, pets, aquarium, and antiques.

The judges worked both afternoon and evening to complete their work. They reported that they had never seen exhibits at a school fair of such wide variety and high quality as those exhibited here.

The restaurant in the science room under the supervision of Miss Bernelle Goodman, was well patronized. Every class stand concession reported a "sell-out" before the close of the evening.

Colds That Hang On

Don't let them get started. Fight them quickly. Creomulsion combines 7 helps in one. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (adv.)
